DEMOCRATS ASK FOR FINAL VOTE ON TREATY THIS WEEK

Administration Forces Present Proposal as Counter to Lodge's Plan for Action Nov. 12.

Suggested Agreement Provides Pact Can Be Laid Aside if the Vote Is Against Ratification.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—A final vote this week on ratification of the peace treaty is proposed in a unanimous consent agreement drawn up for presentation to the Senate today by the administration leaders.

Apparently contemplating the possibility of a deadlock over reservations, the agreement provides that after this week the treaty, if not ratified, can be laid aside.

Under the plan put forward as a counter to Republican Leader Lodge's proposal for a final vote Nov. 12, all amendments would be disposed of today, the reservations of the Foreign Relations Committee would be passed on tomorrow and Wednesday and the committee's resolution of ratification voted on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The fact that the agreement provided for a possible deadlock on the treaty was taken as another indication that the administration forces would vote against ratification if the committee reservations were adopted, and then would present a ratification resolution containing only qualifications of an interpretative character.

Debate on all subjects relating to the treaty would be limited under the plan to 15 minute speeches, and the Senate would meet an hour earlier than usual each day.

Senator King, Democrat of Utah, introduced a resolution today declaring that the United States "withholds its assent" to the treaty's labor provisions and "declines to participate" in the international labor conference, because vital American domestic questions are affected.

NEW IRISH HOME RULE PLAN EXPECTED TO BE ANNOUNCED

Counties Given Option to Vote Themselves Out, With Lord Lieutenant Over All.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The British Government will announce during the present week a new scheme of Irish government, according to a strongly supported report in Parliament today.

Under the plan said to be in prospect there would be a grant of home rule to Ireland, with power for counties to vote themselves out and form a governing body for the areas which might be thus excluded from the general scheme. A supreme body, however, presided over by the Lord Lieutenant, would have authority over both the other bodies.

COUNTY JUSTICE LEAVES BENCH TO ARREST BELLIGERENT PAIR

Justices Who Took Law Into Own Hands in Courtroom Are Charged With Assault.

Frank and Charles Steinkamp, farmers, of Jennings, St. Louis County, who took the law into their own hands when a charge of assault they had pressed against R. J. Kelly, a neighbor, had been dismissed by Justice Meyer, Saturday, and gave Kelly and his son-in-law, Richard Case, a severe beating in the courtroom, are themselves charged with assault.

Justice Meyer, after vainly rapping for order, reached for his hip pocket, and the Steinkamps brothers ran outside to their automobile. The Justice, who is 60 years old, followed.

"Halt, or I'll fill you full of lead," he shouted, and the brothers threw up their hands and kept them up, while the Justice arrested them.

The Steinkamps and Kelly had quarreled over a stray calf, and Miss Helen Steinkamp, a sister, charged that Kelly struck her when she went to see him about it. The testimony showed he did not.

JUDGE FARIS INDUCTED INTO
—NEW OFFICE BY JUDGE DYER

After Formal Ceremony Justice Says Lawyers Will Get Due Courtesy From Bench.

Judge Charles B. Faris was formally inducted into office by his predecessor, Judge D. P. Dyer, in the United States District Court at 10 a. m. today. Before administering the oath Judge Dyer said:

"Next in solemnity and importance to the conservation of individual to the service of Almighty God is the induction of a Judge clothed with authority to determine the rights of men to life, liberty and property."

Judge Faris held his left hand on a Bible and his right hand aloft while the oath was being read. After taking the oath, he said: "I trust I will be able to carry out the tenets of this oath. Members of the bar will have the courtesy due from the bench and I trust and believe the court will have the same courtesy from them."

Before the oath was administered many lawyers paid their respects to Judge Faris in his chambers and many sent floral offerings. The first motion before the new Judge was filed in a civil suit.

Judge Faris then took up the setting of cases on the criminal docket. Several lawyers asked for more time on the ground they had cases to be attended to in other courts.

"I want it understood," said Judge Faris, "that this docket is badly congested and I expect the other courts to stand out of the way until I get fairly started here. I want the lawyers to consider that, too."

WOMEN'S SOCIETY OF CHRIST CHURCH TO MEET TODAY

Bishops Kinsolving of Brazil and Thomas of Wyoming Will Address Their Centenary Session.

RECEPTION TONIGHT TO VISITING BISHOPS

Capacity Congregation Filled Odeon Last Night to Hear Bishops Brent and Wise and Chorus Choir.

Today's chief meeting, in the Christ Church Cathedral centennial celebration, is that of the Women's Auxiliary, in the cathedral this afternoon. Bishop N. S. Thomas of Wyoming and Bishop L. L. Kinsolving of Southern Brazil are scheduled as the speakers. The principal social event of the nine days' celebration will be the reception to Bishop Tuttle and the visiting Bishops, in Moolah Temple tonight.

The attendance at last night's meeting in the Odeon surprised the Bishops and clergy, and one of the latter remarked that it would be advisable to engage some larger hall for the next centennial gathering, 100 years hence. The Odeon was so full before 8 p. m. that the doors were closed, and admittance was refused to many persons who were entering the corridor. Vestrymen of the Cathedral Parish were among those turned away.

One hundred and twenty singers, men, women and boys, from the various Episcopal churches of the city, were on the stage, and they sang "Onward, Christian Soldiers" as the Bishops and clergy, with bearers of the flag and the cross, came up the central aisle and upon the stage. The venerable Bishop Tuttle of St. Louis was in the position of honor, but his coadjutor, Bishop Johnson, presided at the meeting. The visiting Bishops were Bishop Charles H. Brent of Buffalo and Bishop James W. Pike of Topeka, formerly rector of the Church of the Holy Communion, St. Louis.

Bishop Brent's Litany Read. A litany written by Bishop Brent and read by Bishop Johnson, contained this paragraph:

"For all those who have departed this life in Thy faith and fear, especially our sons and brothers who for Thy cause were careless of their lives even unto death."

Body Named to Supervise Distribution of Fuel Here Names P. Greenlaw Secretary.

The St. Louis Fuel Commission, created by order of Director-General of Railroads Hines to supervise the distribution of coal held in transit in the St. Louis district last Friday night and Saturday, held its first meeting today in the office of Regional Director Bush and appointed P. It was announced that application to the committee for the delivery of coal to commercial consumers must be made through the railroad which will make delivery of the coal. Bush said that the railroad men on the committee were selected because of their knowledge of the methods of transporting and distributing coal.

PROVIDENCE (R. I.) MAYOR HAS TASK OF NAMING DESERVING GIRL

Will of Italian Bequeathes Interest on $10,000 Annually to Her Whose Conduct Is Worthy.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—On the Mayor of Providence, R. I., will rest a new burden when the will of Count Paul Bajnotti of Turin, who died last March, is put into effect. The will, filed for probate here by State Senator Salvatore A. Cottino, attorney in this country for the Royal Italian Government. For the Mayor, according to Senator Cottino, is to name a girl, the daughter of an Italian family, the sum of $10,000, equal to about 50,000 Italian lire, for the creation of a trust, the interest of which shall annually be donated, about July 1, to the young lady that she has named. The girl, who must be a native-born Italian, must be a girl of the common people, will best deserve it by her conduct and family virtues.

In the will of Count Bajnotti, who during the course of his diplomatic career in this country met and married Miss Carrie M. Brown, who was a member of the Executive Board of the Rhode Island University, is found this provision:

"I bequeath to the City of Providence, in the State of Rhode Island, United States of America, the native country of my dear wife and her country, the sum of $10,000, equal to about 50,000 Italian lire, for the creation of a trust, the interest of which shall annually be donated, about July 1, to the young lady that she has named. The girl, who must be a native-born Italian, must be a girl of the common people, will best deserve it by her conduct and family virtues."

CITY, UNABLE TO FIND OWNER, BEGINS WRECKING OF HOUSE

Taxes on Caroline Street Dwelling, Declared Unusable, Have Not Been Paid in Four Years.

Wreckers in the city's employ today began tearing down a no-man's-house at 3419 Caroline street, a two-story brick dwelling. The taxes are in arrears for four years, and the building was declared unsafe. As the owner could not be found, the city undertook the task of tearing the house down. The property appears on the city's records as belonging to the "Keys estate," but inquiry has shown nothing as to the identity of those interested in this estate.

Director McKeay of the Department of Public Safety has also ordered the demolition of a row of six one and two-story houses at the southeast corner of Twentieth street and Cass avenue, owned by J. Kerruish of 991 North Twentieth street. The buildings are not occupied, and Police Court prosecution has failed to cause the owner to make them safe or habitable.

MAN'S LEG FRACTURED WHEN POLO PONY GETS FRACTURED

Arnold G. Stifel Was on His Mount When Pony of Another Player Landed Against Him.

Arnold G. Stifel, 30 years old, of 5486 E. Locust, was injured today when a Stifel-Nicolaus Investment Co. suffered a fractured left leg on the drill grounds at Forest Park at 4 p. m. yesterday when the pony ridden by Roy R. Siegel, son of Alfred J. Siegel, 5545 Lindell boulevard, president of the Huttig Sash and Door Co., became fractious in a polo scrimmage.

Stifel was taken to St. Luke's Hospital, where it was found that both bones between the ankle and the knee had been fractured. Stifel was on his pony when the accident occurred. Siegel's pony lunged against Stifel's leg.

85 MINES THAT SUPPLY ST. LOUIS STILL CLOSED

No Indication Today That Single Striker in Madison and St. Clair Counties Has Returned to Work.

ILLINOIS BOARD TO HOLD MEETING

Session Will Be Held at Springfield to Discuss Strike in Spite of Ban of Federal Injunction.

Not one of the 14,200 striking coal miners in St. Clair and Madison Counties was known to have returned to work this morning, although it had been said that today would prove the real effectiveness of the strike, Saturday and Sunday being partial holidays. All the 85 union mines in the two counties continued closed today, and there was no sign of weakening on the part of the miners.

Quiet prevailed yesterday in the mining towns, the men staying away from the shafts, and for the most part remaining at their homes. So little communication was there among them that a meeting scheduled at Belleville yesterday was not held, because less than 20 miners attended, the others not having heard of it.

Operators to Await Hearing. Operators indicated that they proposed to wait until after the hearing next Saturday on the Federal injunction at Indianapolis before taking any steps toward resuming operations. Several trains of coal cars had been on sidings about the mines were removed yesterday, some coming to St. Louis, and others held in the East Side yards for instructions from the Fuel Commission.

The only coal being produced in the great fields opposite St. Louis is from five small nonunion mines which sell their product entirely in the communities where they are situated, and in at least one of which the miners own stock.

No Fear of Strike Breakers. Walter Nesbit, secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers of Illinois, and member of the Executive Board from the Belleville district, departed today for Springfield to attend a meeting of the Executive Board, which officials frankly admitted, would be held today to discuss the situation, regardless of the Federal injunction which prohibits officials from encouraging or aiding the strike.

Strikers asserted that they were certain no attempt would be made to use strike breakers in Madison and St. Clair Counties. There are few coal fields where such hostility would be encountered. The East Side towns, where the miners live, are strongly organized by all trade unions.

In Collinsville, where the total population is 5500, there are 1600 miners. The town is in the heart of the coal district, and is a center of strike feeling. Miners there say they had not been permitted to work more than an average of one day a week between the signing of the armistice and Sept. 1.

A report that 15 or 20 of the "insurgent" miners who went on an unauthorized strike at the Shiloh mine, near Belleville, several weeks ago, and were expelled from the union, had offered to go to work, was set at rest today when the "insurgents" themselves told union officials they would not work under any consideration.

At Staunton, Ill., north of Edwardsville, the entire staffs of Bell and Kinloch telephone operators were on strike yesterday, and it was reported today that their action was in sympathy with the miners' strike.

Work in Emergency. No men will be permitted to enter the mines, in addition to the engineers, firemen, pumpmen and mule feeders already there, except in case of serious emergency. G. A. Thomas, president of the Belleville district, said today: "We had been asked if the union would permit men to go in to 'clean up,' a regular process of removing the coal and dust that falls down into the corridors."

"We will pay no attention to ordinary emergencies," he said. "If there is a fire or a serious cave-in, we will send down enough men to take care of the situation."

FALL FRACTURES LEG AND ARM

Woman Drops 15 Feet When Banister Breaks.

Mrs. Viola Heitkamp, 33 years old, of 2756A Lafayette avenue, was throwing feed from the porch of her home, which is on the second floor, to chickens in the back yard today at 11:30 a. m., when the banister gave way. She fell 15 feet, suffering fractures of her right leg and left arm and internal injuries.

At St. Mary's Infirmary her condition was declared to be serious.

Government to Consider Claims Only When Miners Go to Work

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3. ATTORNEY-GENERAL PALMER today informed coal miners who protested against the strike injunction that the Government stood ready to "do everything in its power to facilitate an inquiry into the merits of the controversy but in the meantime the law must be enforced and combinations to stop production cannot be tolerated."

Palmer's statement, made in reply to a telegram from the local St. Louis, O., to President Wilson, was taken to indicate that no attempt would be made by the Government to settle the wage controversy until the strike was called off.

The miners' telegram said: "We, the members of Local Union 3788 United Mine Workers of America, feel justified in reasoning your action taken against us in our just demand for a living wage and that we are solidly behind our international officials in their action taken."

Replying for the President, Attorney-General Palmer said: "Your telegram to the President protesting against the action of the Government of communication with your just demands for living wage is based on a misconception of facts. The Government has not taken sides either for or against the mine owners or the mine workers or their demands in the wage controversy.

"The law provides that no two persons prior to the proclamation of peace shall agree or arrange with each other to restrict the output or supply of coal. The Government is insisting that this law should be obeyed by both the mine owners and the mine workers.

"The wage controversy can be settled without concert of action to stop the output of the mines, and the Government stands ready now, as it has steadily in the past, to do everything in its power to facilitate an inquiry into the merits of the controversy, but in the meantime the law must be enforced and combinations to stop production cannot be tolerated."

Continued pressure is being brought to bear on officials of the United Mine Workers of America to call off the strike. It has become known that Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, has informed John L. Lewis, president of the miners' union, of the Government's attitude, and locomotive engineers have been in communication with Lewis over the long distance telephone. Gompers' message was sent Friday after his interview with Palmer.

U. R. RECEIVERSHIP CASE SET FOR NOV. 26

Company Anxious to Have Suit Disposed of Because of Charges Against Directors.

Judge Lamm, special master in the United Railways receivership case today set 5 a. m. Nov. 26 as the time for the beginning of arguments. He ordered that briefs be filed by attorneys for the plaintiffs Nov. 5 and by attorneys for the company Nov. 24.

Ephraim Caplan, attorney for John W. Seamen, the principal plaintiff, explained that he had made an abstract of the 150 pages of testimony and would submit it for attorneys for the company.

Former Judge H. S. Priest, of counsel for the company, said: "We are anxious to get this case disposed of, as there are charges against certain directors of the company and they are entitled to know if they are guilty or not."

"If they are guilty they know it now," replied Judge Lamm. "What I mean," said Priest, "is that the pendency of this suit has injured their reputations. We have been prejudged. We don't want to be hanged until we have been tried."

"I can assure you there will be no hanging in this case," said Judge Lamm.

The master asked if it would be necessary to hear arguments on the appointment of a receiver, in view of the fact that a receiver already has been appointed and the company, in answering the Samuel W. Adler petition, has admitted its insolvency.

"Yes," said Priest, "it will be necessary to argue that point, because the Adler suit has been forced onto the Seamen suit by the question of the legality of consolidating the two suits is now before the Court of Appeals."

Judge Lamm also asked if there would be arguments on the question of a finding as to the amounts which might be due from individual defendants, if he should find in favor of the plaintiffs.

"Yes," said Priest, "it will be necessary to argue that point, because the Adler suit has been forced onto the Seamen suit by the question of the legality of consolidating the two suits is now before the Court of Appeals."

BILLS TO REPEAL ESPIONAGE ACT TURNED DOWN BY SENATORS

Committee Reports Adversely Because Law Includes Search Provision to Enforce Dry Act.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—By unanimous vote the Senate Judiciary Committee today declined to recommend repeal of the espionage act. Repeal bills of Senators France of Maryland and Poindexter of Washington, Republicans, were ordered reported adversely.

The committee decided it was impracticable to repeal the law, because it included search warrant and other provisions necessary for the enforcement of prohibition.

CHURCH UNITY VIA GOLF LINKS
LONDON, Nov. 3.—The Rev. S. W. Dick of Boston described the Manchester Diocesan Conference Friday how church unity could be most effectively accomplished.

Instead of mere ecclesiasticals to bring about unity, he suggested a weekly game of golf on Mondays between the warring clergy, a midday cup of coffee and a good smoke together. He said this conciliatory plan had worked successfully in Bolton, and added: "If there's any truth in a belief in a future life, churchmen will be obliged, sooner or later to associate with their non-conformist brothers in heaven or elsewhere. We had better begin now so as to avoid a shock later."

The membership dues are to be used in a peace-time program which includes a public health campaign, first aid training, safety-first work in the country, besides relief work in European countries where it is still needed.

While this may not be reached, those in charge are determined to come as near 100 per cent as possible, and no quota short of 100 per cent, which would mean a total of $800,000 or more for this city, will be fixed. The campaign ends one week from tomorrow.

In the residence districts, a house-to-house canvass will be made by women's committees led by Mrs. J. P. Higgins and Mrs. J. H. Holliday.

PASTOR OF UNITARIAN CHURCH DELIVERS HIS $1000 SERMON

Advocates Use of Advertising and Urges Establishment of Recreational Centers in Churches.

Dr. John W. Day, pastor of the Unitarian Church of the Messiah, delivered at the evening services yesterday his sermon which recently won a $1000 prize for explaining how the church could make great progress under existing conditions.

Dr. Day outlined the principles of Unitarianism and advocated the use of advertising to carry the message to the people. He urged establishment of recreational centers in the churches and asked that more attention be paid to old persons and children. Sunday should be used for all good forms of amusement, he said.

Part of the prize money has already been spent for advertising. The remainder will be used to put Dr. Day's ideas into practice.

Ballman was charged, with Tim McCarthy, Charles Ellis and John O'Donnell, with the murder of Henry Krallman, a saloon keeper, July 25.

Ellis' trial has been set for Nov. 11. McCarthy's has been continued and O'Donnell is a fugitive.

In Residence Districts, House-to-House Canvass Is Being Made by Women's Committees.

The downtown campaign of the Red Cross for membership payments of $1 each began today, with solicitation by 142 teams, headed by business men.

The membership dues are to be used in a peace-time program which includes a public health campaign, first aid training, safety-first work in the country, besides relief work in European countries where it is still needed.

St. Louis will not go "over the top" in this campaign unless the number of members enrolled is equal to the number of persons of all ages in St. Louis. While this may not be reached, those in charge are determined to come as near 100 per cent as possible, and no quota short of 100 per cent, which would mean a total of $800,000 or more for this city, will be fixed. The campaign ends one week from tomorrow.

In the residence districts, a house-to-house canvass will be made by women's committees led by Mrs. J. P. Higgins and Mrs. J. H. Holliday.

A special group of workers will handle the subscription campaign among industrial plants.

In St. Louis County, the campaign is directed by John E. Turner of University City, with sub-chairmen in the different townships.

The campaign in East St. Louis is in charge of Paul Schaffly, with headquarters in the East St. Louis Chamber of Commerce.

Among the St. Louis negroes, the work of soliciting memberships has been undertaken by a committee headed by Mrs. Victoria Clay Haley, with headquarters in the Negro Y. M. C. A., Pine street and Ewing avenue.

The St. Louis Symphony Orchestra of 81 men, Conductor Max Zach, and five members of the orchestra, today enrolled in the Red Cross. The orchestra was holding its first rehearsal of the season at the Musician's Club, 3535 Pine street, when it voted to be 100 per cent in Red Cross support.

PASTOR OF UNITARIAN CHURCH DELIVERS HIS $1000 SERMON

Advocates Use of Advertising and Urges Establishment of Recreational Centers in Churches.

Dr. John W. Day, pastor of the Unitarian Church of the Messiah, delivered at the evening services yesterday his sermon which recently won a $1000 prize for explaining how the church could make great progress under existing conditions.

Dr. Day outlined the principles of Unitarianism and advocated the use of advertising to carry the message to the people. He urged establishment of recreational centers in the churches and asked that more attention be paid to old persons and children. Sunday should be used for all good forms of amusement, he said.

Part of the prize money has already been spent for advertising. The remainder will be used to put Dr. Day's ideas into practice.

DEATH ENDS MURDER CHARGE

The State this morning abated a charge of first-degree murder against Walter G. Ballman, 49 years old, 4639 Labadie avenue, who killed himself Friday night after killing his brother, Leonard, in a taxicab near Pattonville, St. Louis County.

Ballman was charged, with Tim McCarthy, Charles Ellis and John O'Donnell, with the murder of Henry Krallman, a saloon keeper, July 25.

Ellis' trial has been set for Nov. 11. McCarthy's has been continued and O'Donnell is a fugitive.

Americans in Big Diamond Deal.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co. from Johannesburg reports the purchase by an Anglo-American company for $5,000,000 of all Germany's private and state interests in the diamond fields of what was formerly German Southwest Africa. Some protests are expressed over what is called the "secrecy of the deal," and allegations are made that the purchase was effected through undue influence in political quarters.

SOVIETS MAY TURN TO INDIA IF FORCED EASTWARD INTO ASIA, TROTSKY THREATENS

Reds' Leader, Khaki Clad, Is Interviewed in Palatial Train Once Used by Grand Duke Nicholas.

Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.

BERLIN, Germany, via Copenhagen, Denmark, Nov. 3.—"We Russians are quick to learn languages. We master them more easily than do other Europeans. If the British insist much longer on their present policy toward Soviet Russia then we may show that we can learn Hindi just as easily as any European tongue."

Thus spoke Leon Trotsky in reply to the correspondent's question as to the significance of the red army's victories in Turkestan. It was on the evening of Oct. 6 when Trotsky received Col. Malone, M. C., and the correspondent in the handsomely furnished car formerly belonging to Commander in Chief Grand Duke Nicholas Nicolaevitch, now forming part of the "Trotsky train." It was in Tula, a city of 250,000 population, the Bethlehem of Soviet Russia, where Trotsky had come to review the red troops and inspect the munitions factories. He spoke in French and addressed himself mainly to Col. Malone.

"We do not want to turn our attention to India," Trotsky continued. "Our interests are wholly European, but if we are driven eastward we will divert our energies to Asia."

Trotsky was dressed in khaki and bore no resemblance to the picture of the western world of him. Col. Malone, at the end of the interview remarked, "Certainly this is not the debonair Trotsky of our caricatures. He has no personality." Having never thought of Trotsky in khaki I had to confess that there was something funny about him. He was unaffected, modest, restrained and quick to answer. After half an hour's conversation one left Trotsky with the impression that this revolutionary agitator and pamphleteer could match minds with any half dozen European prime ministers.

Soviets Want No Interference.

"Our program," said Trotsky, "is let us alone. If we are as weak as the newspapers of the entire world insist then by all means let us expire of our own weakness. Don't help us—the ever teetering soviet government will fall. Ours is exclusively a policy of defense. We pursue no aims of conquest. If President Wilson attacks us then we defend ourselves. If he sends us food then we take it gratefully. For two years we have been allowed by the war to build a new society and develop our ideas of democracy. The dictatorship of the proletariat is almost entirely the result of this war. We consider the dictatorship temporary. As soon as the conflict is over freedom of the press and other liberties will be re-established."

"We cannot grant unrestrained liberties when alone. We need at least 1,000,000 pounds ($5,000,000) daily on Russia, one-fourth of which goes for corruption, intrigue and plots. Every raid proves the existence of thousands of foreign agents within our boundaries. Under these circumstances we cannot be blamed for the militarism of our Government. Take the fighting fronts away, raise the blockade and our military disappears and we devote ourselves to the construction of a new economic order in Russia."

Inspection of the famous Trotsky train proved it the most complete the correspondent had ever seen. It is made up of 14 cars and two powerful engines. The train is supplied with a wireless installation, receiving while in motion dispatches from Nauen, Lyons and London. This is considered by the train commander as the first experiment of its kind. Telephonic communication is established as soon as the train arrives at any station. The telegraph is working day and night. The shop in which Trotsky's paper, "On the Way," is printed, is quite a striking feature of the train. Most remarkable of all is the imperial railway garage, holding five motor cars, including two Packards, and also a powerful French machine which belonged to the former Czar.

Train Heavily Guarded.

The train guard numbers 250 and includes a machine gun company, since Trotsky often approaches the front line in the train and has already had several very narrow escapes under fire. There is a fine line of sentries on the train, where the simple food is served. The correspondent had a meal in it and found that it consisted of the Russian soldiers' traditional food of cabbage soup and gruel with black bread and tea.

Before the parting Trotsky was asked whether the red army was strong enough to withstand German Denikine. "Yes," Trotsky replied with confidence. "We shall defeat Denikine. Mud and snow, the greatest foes of cavalry, are our allies."

Several days before the meeting Trotsky had been telegraphed a number of questions regarding the military situation, which he answered from Tambov. These were wirelessly from Moscow and now are repeated by cable the following questions and Trotsky's replies:

Q.—How great a menace is Gen. Denikine?

A.—"Denikine was a great menace until we stopped the push of his cavalry. The moment he stopped the push he was immediately disarmed. We have concentrated the bulk of our forces into our hands. We cannot take any measures not to try too long the patience of our old friends of St. James and the Quai d'Orsay."

Q.—What effect on the military situation in Soviet Russia will the victory in Turkestan and the fall of Kiev have?

A.—"These two events which have taken place on opposite poles of the Soviet front can indeed be considered in their inner connection. I will not enlarge upon the fact that the loss of Kiev as well as the other points in Ukraine was the result of the infancy of the Ukrainian red army which experienced the stage passed through by us more than a year ago. There is no doubt, however, regardless of the military causes the fall of Kiev itself is sufficient to uphold the intervention plans and measures in the sphere ruled by the English and French. From the French radio—the falsest of all—we can clearly enough see in what direction the fall of Kiev was used in moulding public opinion—not so much among the people as among the military circles. Although the fall of Kiev temporarily cuts ways which might have connected us with the west, our victory on this side of the military events in Ukraine and behind the Urals make it appear as if British imperialism had made its task to direct, with all its energies, our attention toward the Atlantic East. Events will show to what extent we will follow this inspiration."

Q.—What is the military and political significance of the victory over Admiral Kolchak?

A.—"The significance is always good when one smashes a big enemy. I spoke before of open gates into Asia. This is the case. The other is in the east and the other in the southeast. If one does not speak of remote prospects, but only of the most immediate and real consequences, then one might suppose that the ruling classes of those capitalist states which are less terrified by fear of a proletarian revolution, would be compelled to undertake a new campaign against the strangling soviet power by means of Finnish, Estonian and Polish bands and a naval blockade, is bound to remain a miserable Utopia. For two years we have been allowed by the war to build a new society and develop our ideas of democracy. The dictatorship of the proletariat is almost entirely the result of this war. We consider the dictatorship temporary. As soon as the conflict is over freedom of the press and other liberties will be re-established."

Q.—What is the purpose of the advance into the depths of Siberia?

A.—"To knock out Kolchak, clear Siberia of marauding bands, organize communication with Russia and partly secure our recently raised military and commercial base by a powerful Siberian rear."

Q.—What is the frame of mind of the red army?

A.—"It was never so even and confident as it is now. During a year of experience and growth the red army has become accustomed to winning victories and not to fear temporary failures. Plots and mutinies in the ranks of the red army—inseparable from civil war—have decreased to an extraordinary degree. The attempt of the popular front region cosack, Col. Mironov, to raise his corps against the Soviet power ended this week in a miserable fiasco. Mironov and his followers without a single shot were captured by the red cosack cavalry and handed over to a military revolutionary tribunal. In this fact everyone knowing the conditions of the Russian revolution, especially in the backward southwestern district, will see testimony to the high unanimity of the red army."

Q.—How about deserters?

A.—"Deserters in the proper meaning of this term, that is, soldiers willfully leaving the ranks of the army, are fewer with us than with any other army in the world, according to the testimony of competent persons who have investigated this question. However, until last spring we had a very considerable number of peasants who did not answer to the general military call. This phenomenon was especially noticeable in the southern provinces, but it is now almost entirely removed, thanks in part to the improvement of the military administration, and partly to the hatred of the peasant masses for Gen. Denikine. The menace of his offensive compelled him to desert."

Q.—How far distant is the end of the war and how long is Russia ready to continue it?

A.—"I dare not make chronological forecasts in this complicated case. I suppose that the liquidation of Gen. Denikine, which is a matter of months' should bring the end of the war very much nearer. Retaining a deep longing for peace and toll we shall fight with ever-growing energy until we are left in peace. More than this we do not demand of the present European masters."

Q.—How great are the forces of all the enemies on all the fronts of soviet Russia?

A.—"Regarding this I can only say that our forces are considerably larger than the forces of the enemies and during the coming year will grow faster than the hired troops at the disposal of Anglo-French imperialism."

500 ST. LOUIS SERVICE MEN STILL ARE IN NEED OF JOBS

Director in Charge of Demobilization Bureau in Asking Co-operation Says Situation Is Critical.

Five hundred returned St. Louis fighters want jobs and Martin J. Walsh, director in charge of the Demobilization Bureau for Soldiers, Sailors and Marines, 219 North Ninth street, says the situation is growing critical, as many of the men have been waiting weeks for openings. More than 200 on the lists are clerks, and among these are stock railroad, mercantile, receiving and office clerks. There are also a number of expert salesmen, office managers, mechanics' helpers, collectors and timekeepers on the list.

We appreciate the splendid co-operation of the press and public have given the bureau," said Walsh, "and we want to urge that it continue until the last St. Louis man is started again in business. Many of the jobs are already filled, but we need more men in some of these concerns. We charge no fee either to the man who gets the job or the man who gives it. We are running the bureau for one thing alone—to see that the men who fought for us get their chance to live among us and earn their living at decent living wages."

WOMEN'S SOCIETY OF CHRIST CHURCH TO MEET TODAY

death and in the great war made the supreme sacrifice.

"We praise Thee, O God," Bishop Brent, who was Chaplain General of the American Expeditionary Force, related anecdotes of the war, including the story of the doughboy who, after having danced with a woman war worker, asked her to marry him. "Mrs. W. K. Vandervell," the doughboy's wife, as quoted by the bishop, said: "That's right, chicken! fly high!" The bishop added that the story was true.

He told of the spirit of comradeship which prevailed in the war, and said he had never had an orderly who had had had one, the orderly would have been his "buddy." He had a chauffeur, an aide related that he agreed with this chauffeur that, whenever they were out of view of commanding officers, they should forget their difference in rank.

Bishop Brent praised the French and the British, and predicted that the coming of the American Expeditionary Force, between Americans and British, would disappear, and that a great bond of sympathy would remain. Friendship between England and the United States, he held, is essential to world peace. He spoke also of the contribution of the Oriental peoples to the winning of the war, and said that the Chinese coolies in labor battalions in France, once made a demand that they be permitted to take guns and go into the trenches.

Discussed.

Bishop Wiese took social problems as his theme, and urged the carrying out of the national social service program recently outlined by the church committee. This program calls for the services of several hundred additional workers, and he presented the claims of this work on young people. He spoke of child labor as "not an economic problem, but a spiritual problem," and of industrial troubles as a problem in human relationship. He advocated publicity in church work.

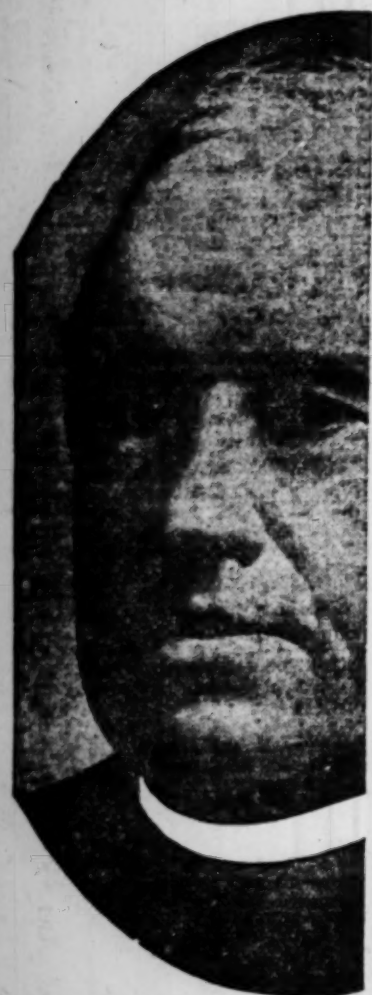

An orchestra, led by Arthur Davis, organist of Christ Church Cathedral, and the Odeon pipe organ, played by David Faller, accompanied the singing of "No More Battles." "Jesus Shall Reign," "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name," and "America." The united choir sang Handel's "Gloria." The church chorus.

The musical program, it was announced today, will be repeated at next Sunday night's meeting in Moah Temple, which is to end the church's celebration of the war. The service mass meeting, Bishop Williams of Detroit, Gov. Gardner and Mayor Kiel are to speak at this meeting.

Bishop Thomas F. Gallor of Memphis, newly elected head of the Executive Council of the Protestant Episcopal Church, preached yesterday morning in the cathedral. He spoke of the significance of which a cathedral should occupy in a community. He said it should be made a "big, splendid thing that would appeal to the American mind."

The cathedral choir, as its members of former years, will hold a reunion tomorrow evening, followed by a song service in

Fifth Horseman—the Class War—Is Galloping Upon Us, Says Novelist Ibanez

Inevitable Struggle Already Has Begun in Europe, Declares Noted Author, and It Will Be the Last Great Conflict.

By MARGUERITE MOORE MARSHALL. A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3. — "The world has lived through a new Apocalyptic, a new showing forth of horrors hidden behind civilization. The feet of the Four Horsemen are now retreating from the blood-soaked soil of Europe. Never again will they gallop it so wildly—the world will take care of that. But already may be heard the thunderous gallop of a Fifth Horseman, from whom there is no escape—the class war, the social revolution."

There you have the promise and the prophecy of Vicente Ibanez, the man who took the soul and the body of the war and put them into a book, "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." Four Horsemen, men, you remember, were Pestilence, War, Famine and Death, "the strong and brutal giant with the sword of war, the archer with his repulsive smile, shooting his pestilential arrows, the bald-headed miser with the scales of famine, the hard-riding specter with the scythe of death."

And the furious cavalcade was passing like a hurricane over the immense assemblage of human beings," writes Ibanez in a passage of memorable eloquence. "The heavens showed above their heads—a vivid dark cloud from the west. Horrible monsters and deformities were swarming in spirals above the furious horde, like a repulsive escort. Poor Humanity, crazed with fear, was fleeing in all directions on hearing the thundering pace of the Plague, War, Hunger and Death. Men and women, young and old, were knocking each other down and falling to the ground overwhelmed by terror, astonishment and desperation. And the white horse, the red, the black and the pale, were crushing all with their relentless iron tread—the athletic man was rearing the crushing of his broken ribs, the nursing babe was writhing at its mother's breast, and the aged and feeble were closing their eyes forever with a childlike sob. The agony of humanity, under the brutal sweep of the Four Horsemen, was begun!"

Talks as a Sword Plays. The Spanish author of two of the greatest books of the war—"The Four Horsemen" and the recently published "Mare Nostrum" (Our Sea), as well as of many other notable novels, has just arrived in New York. Of medium height, he is broad shouldered, thick set, with a splendidly shaped head. For the rest he looks the typical Toreador, with the white flash of teeth, the dark flash of the eye, the olive coloring, and he talks as a sword plays, with swiftness, strength and a keen fascination for the watcher.

Naturally he spoke first of the ride of his Four Horsemen and the Apocalyptic beast they escorted, his symbol for all the horrors of the world war. I asked him if he agreed with the man in his book who declares that "the heart does not die—it is the eternal companion of man, it hides, spouting blood, 40, 60, a hundred years, but eventually it reappears. All we can hope is that its wound may be long and deep, that it may remain hidden so long that the generation that now remembers it may never see it again."

Ibanez shook his lionine head and plunged into a torrent of explosive French. "The Four Horsemen never again will ride unchecked," he cried. "The world must see to that—the world is resolved never again to suffer the horrors of a world war. What I wrote in my book was true, but not nearly half the truth. The inconceivable agonies, the supreme sufferings of men and women and children during the German onrush can never be told. For two years the Germans lived only to terrorize the world. That was their acknowledged policy, carried out with scientific, cold-blooded brutality. The earth has seen nothing like it—and it will never be again."

"Little wars—yes; not a world war. Only one great struggle remains—the war between the classes. Already it has begun in Europe. It is the deadliest in countries where despotism is or has been most unchecked. In Spain there are strikes against the monarchy and strikes against the employers. The workmen have the eight-hour day; they are asking for the seven-hour day; when they get that they will ask for the six-hour day. Already they are assassinating their employers. The strike is the weapon of the class war, but it leads so often to bloodshed."

they think they should be better off than before; hence the cry for more wages. Finally, the workers are now soldiers. They have been taught to achieve their ends with the gun in their hands. It becomes natural for them to use violence against what they would change. On the other hand, this arming of the people will help to prevent a world war, for, unlike the professional army, the working men of one country will not desire to fight the working men of another country."

"But will not this social revolution, this Fifth Horseman," Ibanez nodded quick assent to my name for

"Best Health In Years"—From Internal Baths

Miss Frances Harrod, care of Plunkett's Grocery Co., Little Rock, Ark., writes: "I have been using your 'J. B. L. Cascade' for some time, and I am in better health than I have been in years. This is but one of thousands of the same kind of letters received by Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell, of New York, the inventor of the 'J. B. L. Cascade.' By a purely natural process of property using warm water, the 'J. B. L. Cascade' removes all the poisonous waste from the lower intestine, which physicians agree is the cause of 95% of all human ailments. J. B. L. Cascade Co. Stores in St. Louis have filled an enormous demand for the 'J. B. L. Cascade' in the past few years and will show and explain it to you on request. An interesting booklet on Internal Bathing—'Why Man of Today Needs It'—can be obtained at their stores free of any cost."

it—"be accompanied by the other Four Horsemen, by all the horrors of the war just passed?" I asked. "Workers are not Prussians," he replied bluntly. "There will be never the deliberate, scientific infliction of suffering to inspire terror, such as the Germans practiced. The diabolic thing about them was that they acted in cold blood; the workers will act in hot blood."

"It will be a different war from any the world had known. Eight generations will not see the end of it. There will be long periods of truce, of quietness. Even now a conservative reaction is due in France. But I see no escape from the struggle; it is an epidemic, like typhoid fever, influenza, which must spread over the world. The workers will fight; what you call the 'white collar men' will direct them, as the lawyer and doctor, Robespierre and Marat, directed the French Revolution; the capitalists will resist with bitterness."

Neither hand workers, brain workers nor capitalists are to blame. Human nature is to blame. There is nothing logical in life; two and two make four in arithmetic, but in life they make six or seven. And after all what great problem is left to us except that of capital and labor? If we solved it, in our generation, what would be left for future generations to do?"

VOTE ON PROHIBITION IN OHIO TOMORROW

Both Wets and Drys Make Pre-Election Claims to Victory.

By the Associated Press. COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 3.—Spokesmen for both the wets and drys today made pre-election claims to victory at tomorrow's election, at which Ohioans will vote upon repeal of State-wide prohibition and other prohibition measures.

Voters tomorrow will be faced with three proposed constitutional amendments and two referendums. Two of the amendments and both referendums relate to prohibition and were initiated by the wets. The other amendment would provide for classification of property for taxation. Ohio now has the uniform rule of property for taxation. Following are the prohibition measures to be voted upon:

1. Proposed constitutional amendment providing for the repeal of State-wide prohibition and re-establishment of the license system.

2. Proposed constitutional amendment defining intoxicating liquor as that containing more than 2.75 per cent alcohol "by weight."

3. Referendum on action of Ohio Legislature in ratifying the Federal prohibition amendment.

4. Referendum on the Crabbe State-wide prohibition enforcement bill passed by last Legislature.

Much interest centers in the Ohio election tomorrow, as this is the only State voting upon State-wide prohibition this fall. To date Ohio is the biggest State having voted prohibition.

The effort to repeal prohibition, adopted by the voters a year ago by a 25,000 majority, comes after less than six months of the dry regime as prohibition did not go into effect until May 27 this year. A big vote is expected.

100 NEGROES, ALLEGED RIOTERS AT ELAINE, ARK., TO GO ON TRIAL

Murder and Assault to Murder the Charges Against Them From Upspring.

By the Associated Press. HELENA, Ark., Nov. 3.—Trial of murder and assault to murder charges against more than 100 negroes for alleged participation in the recent disturbance near Elaine, a small town in the southern part of this country, is scheduled to begin in Circuit Court here today.

There was every indication that attorneys for both sides would announce ready. Cases of 13 defendants were expected to be taken up today.

In addition to the cases against the negroes, two attorneys, O. S. Bratton and G. P. Casey, face charges of barratry in connection with the disturbances, which have been officially characterized as an armed uprising and which resulted in the killing of five white persons, a score of negroes and the dispatch of Federal troops to the scene.

The cases against the attorneys, it was said today, probably will not be reached until later in the term.

The Elaine disorders broke out the night of Sept. 30, when a posse sent by the Sheriff to arrest a white man stopped to repair its motor car near a country church where armed negroes were meeting secretly.

Apparently believing members of the posse were endeavoring to arrest the negroes opened fire. One deputy was killed and another wounded. Firing then became general between the negroes and posse members.

When word of the affair reached Helena, reinforcements were sent the possemen. Further sanguinary fighting took place and at Gov. Charles H. Brough's request 500 Federal troops were sent to Elaine from Camp Pike. The troops remained there a week and several fights with negroes took place. Large quantities of arms and ammunition were seized by civil and military officials.

Indicting the authorities said, "that the negroes had planned an uprising of large proportions."

POPE INDORSES BOYCOTT OF WEARERS OF IMMODEST STYLES

Exhort's Refusal of Visits From Women Who Refuse to Modify Present Fashions.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch. ROME, Nov. 3.—Pope Benedict has caused the following to be published in the Catholic press and repeated from the pulpits of the Catholic churches:

"Certain exaggerations of dress which are now in fashion are a danger to society, together with those who provoke to evil. It fills us with surprise and consternation to observe that those who spread this poison appear ignorant of their evil action, as those who set fire to a house seem to ignore the destructive force of fire. We can only suppose that ignorance alone explains the deplored extension of such fashions so contrary to modesty, which should be the most beautiful ornament of the Christian woman."

His Holiness proceeds to praise the Italian Woman's Union for its projected campaign against immodest clothes and he exhorts Christian women to follow the example and boycott all women who refuse to modify the present fashions in short skirts, bare arms and extreme necks.

Then he says: "Every lady, no matter how high her social position, is in duty bound not to receive visits from friends whose indecent exaggeration of dress offends modesty."

"BULGARIAN NIGHT" AT CRAFTS EXPOSITION

Educational Program to Be Given
Tonight at Old Southern Hotel Building.

The St. Louis Exposition of Industrial Arts and Crafts, in the old Southern Hotel building, will tonight present the second of a series of educational programs arranged by the Americanization Committee of the Women's Chamber of Commerce. The event will be called "Bulgarian Night."

The meeting calls for an address on the benefits which Bulgarians have derived from America and the manner in which they have helped to build up this country. Folk songs and dances, a one-act drama, the presentation of the Bulgarian flag and the reading of the honor roll will complete the special program.

At last night's meeting, designated as "Jewish Night," which was attended by about 1500 persons, the principal address was delivered by Rabbi Leon Harrison, whose theme was what Americans and Jews had done for each other. One of the features of the evening was a pageant celebrating the second anniversary of the proclamation of the British Empire creating a free state of Palestine for the Jews.

Charles Collins, president of the Missouri University Alumni Society, who represented the State Historical Society at the meeting, received the first Jewish flag which was used in the recent war for recruiting purposes. It is to be placed in the halls of the society.

Tomorrow afternoon the program will be in charge of the St. Louis Catholic Women's League, and the evening's entertainment will be under the auspices of the Ben Franklin Club. Henry Lewis Bullen, founder of the Typographical Library and Museum, will lecture on the relation of graphic art to civilization.

The program of entertainment this afternoon is under the direction of the Eighth District of the Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs.

ROCKEFELLER ADDS $10,000,000 TO GIFT FOR MEDICAL RESEARCH

Latest Donation Brings Total of
imately $50,000,000.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—John D. Rockefeller has added $10,000,000 to his endowment of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research. It is announced. The gift, the largest single one made to the institution, is to meet rapidly growing needs in its many lines of work and to make new knowledge available to protection of the public health and for improved treatment of disease and injury. Additional research in biology, chemistry, physics and medicine will be carried forward by Rockefeller.

The scientific staff of the Rockefeller Institute numbers 65 men. About 110 persons are employed in its technical and general service. All discoveries and inventions made by those in the employ of the institute become the property of it, to be "placed freely" at the "service of humanity."

Rockefeller's gifts to the four largest institutions founded by him, according to figures obtained from Dr. Harry J. Murphy, one of his principal advisers in his benefactions, are as follows: Rockefeller foundation, $125,000,000; general education boards, $125,000,000; University of Chicago, $14,000,000; Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, $27,000,000; total, $239,000,000.

Many smaller sums probably would bring the total of his gifts to the neighborhood of $500,000,000.

A New, Exclusive Process
The nut margarine industry is new in the United States and, until our discovery, nut margarine was made by the same process used in making oleomargarine (from animal fats). Because the results of using the oleomargarine process to make nut butter were so undependable, we decided it was not good enough for us and set about developing a new process. We were successful. We called our new discovery the Ashby Process.

No Preservatives
Preservatives in nut margarine are to cover up the carelessness or the ignorance of the manufacturer. GOODY is made from such pure ingredients by such a skillful, cleanly process that it does not need to be preserved.

No Animal Fats
GOODY contains nothing but the white meat of the coconut, peanut oil, pasteurized milk and butter salt. Can you imagine a more appetizing food? GOODY is what you hoped other nut margarine would be—uniformly delicious and melts at the same temperature as creamery butter.

You can depend upon GOODY. It is always good when kept as butter ought to be kept—it "spreads" like butter—and is more economical and satisfactory than other nut butters.

GOODY is Guaranteed
Food prices are high—people cannot afford to experiment—so for your protection, we guarantee GOODY.

Best—Or Your Money Back!
"Buy a pound package of GOODY from your dealer. Serve it on the table. Use it in your cooking. Try it in any way you please. Then, if you do not like GOODY as well as the choicest creamery butter you ever ate, your money will be refunded without a word."

BISHOP BRENT DEPLORES SPREAD OF SPIRITUALISM

Archbishop Glennon Says Souls of Just Are in Hands of God, to Be Trusted There.

The theme of spiritualism and communication with the dead was discussed yesterday by two church dignitaries in Lindell boulevard parlors yesterday. Bishop Charles H. Brent of Buffalo was the preacher in St. Peter's Episcopal Church and Archbishop Glennon delivered his monthly sermon in the New Cathedral, the day being All Souls' day in the Catholic Church calendar.

Bishop Brent said the war had greatly increased the field for exploitation of the talents of spiritualistic mediums. He said it was to be regretted that a number of persons of high reputation, among whom he mentioned the English author, A. Conan Doyle, had indulged the claims of spiritualism and had encouraged others to take up its practice as a profession.

The Bishop said it was to be hoped that the soul, after leaving the body, should pass into a realm of higher intelligence. Instead, he said, the so-called messages from the spirit world would indicate a lower grade of intelligence. “Can we believe,” he asked, “that the disembodied spirit of an intelligent person would adopt such a stupid means of manifesting itself as to rap on a table?” He said there were some striking phenomena in telepathy, between the minds of living persons, and that none of the so-called spirit manifestations went beyond the scope of telepathy.

Archbishop Glennon said: “Some, through the anguish of loss or through curiosity, have sought to peer beyond the veil and to hold converse with the dead, and many claim they have succeeded in their quest, though never with satisfying certainty regarding form, facts or persons.

“Our religion teaches us, of course, the existence of the spirit world—of life after death, of the soul's immortality—but it teaches also with equal firmness that the Omnipotent who rules, being Master of life and death, also, and more immediately, rules and governs the world of spirit; that the souls of the departed are in His keeping, and that it would be derogatory to His power and infinite holiness were He to permit a traffic of thought and indiscriminate communication between these souls and a curious-minded living, who in many instances even commercialize a supposedly divine amenity.

“The spirits of the just are in the hands of God, and we can well trust them there. Other spirits there may be who are not just and who, led by the spirit of evil, have and do still exercise a potency in this world of ours. But their voices, if heard by the living, echo only the voice that tempted the Savior in the desert, and to which Christ said, ‘Begone, Satan; thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God!’”

ST. LOUIS AND KANSAS CITY APPOINTED RHODES SCHOLARS

Reporter for Post-Dispatch Is One of First Named to Attend

The Rhodes Scholarship Selection Committee announced last night that Raymond P. Brandt, 5505 Clemens avenue, a reporter for the Post-Dispatch, and John G. Madden of Kansas City have been appointed Rhodes scholars. Oxford University, England, to represent Missouri. Charles W. Carter Jr. of Aledo, Ill., will represent Illinois. These are the first appointments made since 1917. Sixty-three scholars were appointed for the United States this year, to go into residence Jan. 1 and Oct. 1, 1920. They will fill the places of those who would have gone in 1918 and 1919 had it not been for the war.

Brandt was graduated by the University of Missouri School of Journalism in 1915. He entered the Fourth Officers' Training Camp at Camp Pike, Ark., in May, 1918, and received a second lieutenant's commission in field artillery in August. He was discharged in January at Camp Lewis, Wash., where he was stationed with the Thirty-ninth Field Artillery. Before coming to St. Louis he was assistant publisher at the University of Missouri. He is 23 years old.

Fifteen applicants appeared before the Missouri Selection Committee at the University Club Saturday afternoon. The committee is composed of four former Rhodes scholars and President A. Ross Hill of the University of Missouri. R. E. Blodgett is secretary of the committee. The qualifying examination in Latin, Greek and mathematics have been abandoned. Those appointed may be compelled to take examinations to enter some of the colleges of the university.

The next selection will be made in 1921. Students with sophomore standing in an accredited college or university who are less than 25 years old and unmarried are eligible.

ECHO OF WAR IN PARIS SALON BUT GORGEOUS VISIONS LEAD

First Display in Five Years Gives Full Swing to Ultra-Modern

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch. PARIS, Nov. 3.—The art world of Paris poured into the Grand Palais on the Champs Elysees Saturday in response to thousands of invitations to a private view of the autumn salon. As it was the first autumn since the beginning of the war it arouses all the curiosity stored up for five years. The exhibits also are all the imprisoned dreams and fantasies of the nation's painters. In tribute to the youth who won the war it is named the "Salon of Youth."

War is not forgotten; indeed a special memorial commemorates the painters, sculptors and architects who died in battle. There is also a great rotunda in which are shown the last works of soldier painters. Yet the war does not dominate the exhibit. Here and there are reminiscences of it in paintings of sullen marching soldiers or battlefields horrors, but in the main the salon reflects the gorgeous visions of those who have risen above recent tragedies.

Full swing has been given to ultra-modern art. Cubists rage in room after room, but by artful hanging the committees have neutralized the shocking effects of the wildest futurists. Staring, individualists like Vlamnick and Dirks who cling somewhat to realism are well represented and so are many Americans. Among the latter are Cameron Brundage, Earl Browder, Lucille Pitt, Otis Oldfield, Stuart Jenkins, Grace Ravlin of Illinois, Achsas Brewster and Patrick Henry Bruce.

The exhibition besides paintings includes a unique collection of Rodin works.

PERSHING PRAISES RED CROSS

General Says Permanent Society Should Be Founded.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Testifying to the service performed by the American Red Cross in France, Gen. John J. Pershing, addressing a rally of volunteer workers in the third Red Cross roll call that opened throughout the nation yesterday, declared that upon the "traditions" of the great organization built up during the war should be founded a permanent society in full readiness to meet any emergency of the future.

"The American people may justly feel proud of the work of the American Red Cross," Gen. Pershing said. "The story is best told by the widows and orphans of our allies and by the mutilated soldiers who have received assistance at the hands of that organization."

Work of the Red Cross in relieving distress among the families of French soldiers in the fall and winter of 1917, when the morale of the troops had suffered from the failure of French and British offensives in the spring, Gen. Pershing said, had a vitally important bearing upon the success of the campaign in the following year.

AMERICANS WHO ENLISTED IN CANADA MAY MEET IN ST. LOUIS

It is probable that the American Volunteers will hold a national convention in St. Louis in the near future. Charles F. Hatfield, secretary and general manager of the Convention Bureau, has returned from Chicago, where he was in a conference with the officers of the organization. The American volunteers who fought in the ranks of the Canadian Expeditionary Forces will soon have a patriotic benevolent and protective association of their own. Since receiving their discharge they have taken up the matter seriously and progress has been made to a point where a national convention is to be held in the near future, probably in St. Louis where the American Legion held its initial meeting, to perfect the organization.

All told, it is claimed there were approximately 125,000 volunteers who crossed the border into Canada to enlist before the United States Government declared that a state of war existed between this country and the Central Powers. Canada furnished 35,000 soldiers to the British empire during the war. Of this number 35 per cent came from the United States and fully 50 per cent of these Americans were born in the United States; 25 per cent were naturalized citizens and the remaining 25 per cent were alien residents of this country, many of them Canadian born.

Now that these men have returned to their homes they maintain that, while Canada is prepared to treat them liberally, there does appear to be little recognition of this services in this country. Local bodies have been formed in all the principal centers of the United States and the movement has progressed to a point where a national convention will be held.

One condition of membership will be that members who are not citizens of the United States will be required to perfect their citizenship by taking out naturalization papers within five years or their membership will automatically be canceled.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

First Step in Treatment Is Purified and Refined Calomel
Tablets That Are Nausealess and Sure.

Doctors have found by experience that no medicine for colds and influenza can be depended upon for full effectiveness until the liver is made thoroughly active. That is why the first step in the treatment of colds and influenza is the use of the new, nausealess calomel tablet called Calomel, and which are free from the sickening and weakening effects of the old style calomel. Doctors also point out the fact that an active liver may be a long way toward preventing influenza and is one of the most important factors in enabling the patient to successfully withstand an attack and ward off pneumonia.

One Calomel on the tongue at bedtime, with a swallow of water—half a glass. No salts, no nausea, nor the slightest interference with your sleep, pleasure or work. Next morning if cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified, and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Druggists sell Calomel only in original sealed packages, price 35c. Your money will be fully refunded if you do not find it delightful.—A7/V.

Miss Jeannette Watson, 1222 Olive street, was seriously injured this morning when her right arm was caught in a paper folder at the Pearlstone Bindery, 1110 Pine street, where she was working. The arm was lacerated and crushed. She is at the City Hospital.

This Bedroom Is More Than Ordinarily Interesting

It is taken for granted that a big furniture, carpet and decorating house will have lots of bedroom furniture, and so we don't often talk about it in newspaper space, but this particular Bedroom Suite is something we especially want you to know about.

To begin with, the price is sharply under that of other furniture equal to it in quality and style—the design is splendid and the soft-toned American walnut rich and beautiful. Altogether its general effect and thorough worthiness assures furniture that will satisfy you for a lifetime.

We hope you will let us show you one of these Suites we now have in stock, for we know you will like it, and after these are gone, we could not order you a duplicate at anything like so low a price.

Rheumatism Relief—25c.

Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets). Are Helping Thousands Who Tried Expensive Things Without Result. It's Guaranteed.

There are three vital processes of human existence—the digestion of food, the extraction of waste, and the elimination of waste. Poor digestion and assimilation means failure to derive full nourishment from food and that in turn often means impoverished blood, weakness, anemia, etc. Poor elimination means an accumulation of waste matter which poisons the body, so very vitally, decreases the power of resistance to disease and leads to the development of many serious ills.

Rheumatism—due to some interference with the process of elimination, failure to get rid of certain body poisons—cannot be expected to yield to any medicine that fails to correct the condition responsible for it. Could any reasonable person expect to rid himself of rheumatic pain as long as rheumatic poison is allowed to remain in the body?

Think of this. It explains the success of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets). In so many cases where other medicines have failed, thousands are using NR Tablets every day and getting relief. Why pay five or ten times as much for uncertain things? A box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets), containing enough to last twenty-five days—must help must give you prompt relief and satisfactory results or cost you nothing.

Nature's Remedy is not only for the relief of rheumatism. It improves digestion, tones the liver, regulates kidney and bowel action, improves the blood and cleanses the system. You've tried the expensive medicines and doctors, now make the real test. You'll get results this time. Just try it. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

"ROADS OF DESTINY" A REMARKABLE DRAMA

Florence Reed Grapples Emotions in Play of Power, Intelligence and Imagination.

By RICHARD L. STOKES.
C HANNING POLLOCK'S dramatic allegory, "Roads of Destiny," which began a week's engagement last night at the Shubert-Jefferson, dares to obtrude nothing less than an idea upon a public which, according to the usual practice of our playwrights, is supposed carefully to pack its cerebral faculties away before starting for the theater. It ventures to harrow with violence and tragedy sensibilities which, by the same theory, can endure no pang more vehement than a timid pliancy. It has the valiancy, amid a visitation of musical comedies and farces, to address itself with power and sincerity to the brain, the heart and the imagination.

And did the big opening night audience resent this challenge to its higher appreciation? By no means. Its response was not the affable, tolerant patter of hands which greets the burlesque dancer, the shrill prima donna or the perspiring buffo. Instead, there was heard that strong and unmistakable diapason which sounds in a crowd only when its feelings are actually stirred. And genuinely moved they were, not only by the play itself, but by the poignant emotional vitality in the art of Florence Reed, and the scarcely less telling acting of her leading man, Malcolm Williams.

The idea presented by the drama was that of fate, recognized by the ancient Greeks, most Oriental nations and some Christian theologians as the commanding agency in human affairs. The moral is that however puny man may rebel against his kismet, however superbly he exerts his own will, and whatever road he seems to elect, the same inescapable lot awaits him at the end.

Adapted From O. Henry Story.
The general construction of the action is adapted from a fantasy by O. Henry, with the same title as that of the play, in which is afforded a glimpse of the romantic charm, the serious irony and the vigorous reflective powers which lay behind his comic mask. The scene is laid in France, and the hero is David Mignot, a village poet. In a series of tableaux David is shown attempting to order his own destiny. He takes the road to the right, he takes the road to the left, and he takes the road which brings him back home. In every case, as was preordained, he meets death—and death by a bullet from the pistol of the Marquis de Beaupertus.

In the play the characters and places are Americanized, and in one essential instance the plot itself is radically transformed. David Mignot was the victim of selfish and deceitful women whom he loved and for whom he died; his American counterpart, David Marsh, is saved by the devotion of women who love him and who die for him. It would never do for a present-day playwright to admit that any woman, outside the vampire screen, could possibly be wicked and treacherous, and besides, there must be a happy ending for the hero. The change makes the chief feminine part more sympathetic, but it is fatal to the hero, who is exhibited time after time in the act uttering a ruthless "No!" to fondly wooing women.

In a prologue, David Marsh, a young farmer at Bethany, Nebraska, is shown with his despicable brother, Lewis, and Ann Harley, whom they both love. David, who is by way of being a poet, saves his brother from suicide and surrenders Ann to him. He determines to set forth into the world where such tragedies do not happen. As he dozes, the voice of Fate, intoned by Miss Reed behind the scenes, admonishes him in a chant that he will be twice as effective if cut in two that Lewis is preordained to die by the pistol which David wrested from him, and that the latter is predestined to win success only through the death of someone who loves him.

From Alaska to Long Island.
The first scene is laid in a gambling hell in Alaska, where Rose Le Claire (Miss Reed) is operating a crooked roulette wheel for "Spider" Lewis, owner of the resort. She is in love with David Marsh, who has invented an electric device for use in mining, and needs $500 for the trip to Washington to secure his patent. Rose, knowing her passion to be hopeless, nevertheless persuades David to play the wheel, and manipulates it so that he wins. "Spider" Lewis, crazed by jealousy as well as by his losses, murders Rose with a frightful oath, while outside chime the bells of the sleigh which bears David and "the other girl" away to fortune and happiness.

In the second scene we are shown what would have happened had David taken the road to the east instead of the west. The curtain rises upon Grantland Lewis' country house on Long Island, where a party is celebrating the success of an automobile device invented by David. It appears that Lewis, a wealthy satyr, has been persuaded to finance the preliminary experiments only because Rosetta Clare, out of love for David, has consented to spend a day with the millionaire. The latter now refuses to permit the device to be manufactured unless the day is extended to the whole summer. The girl consents, and the contract is delivered which will raise David from ruin to wealth. Lewis stands glowing over his triumph, when a shot is heard. Rose has killed herself.

Each Act Has Murder or Suicide.
In the final scene is portrayed what happened in reality when David decided to remain at home.

instead of taking the road either east or west. Two years have passed since the prologue, and Lewis Marsh is married to Ann Harley. David has invented a harvester, and has sent his brother to Washington to patent it. Lewis returns with a report that every feature is covered by previous patents. In reality, he

LISTEN LESTER, BEFORE YOU PAY OUT YOUR $2.75

Ada Mae Weeks, Moved From Chorus to Near Stardom, Makes Play Worth While.

By H. H. NIEMEYER.

IF the Fair Price Commission, which has just announced the maximum price for prime kidney beans and smoked salmon in St. Louis would turn its attention to the high cost of musical comedies to the ultimate consumer, "Listen Lester" which came to the American Theater last night, should get its first attention.

Prime seats at the American this week retail for $2.50, plus 25 cents war tax and several hundred customers, who failed to get into line early enough were turned away from the big playhouse last night, all of them willing and anxious to pay the high prices. Whether or not the demand will keep up throughout the week remains to be seen but at all events $2.75 is a lot of money to pay for a show of the caliber of Listen Lester.

The $2.50 sale of seats for musical comedies now seems to be an established fact. Let it be understood that there is no attempt made here to draw an analogy between canned prime kidney beans or smoked salmon and musical comedies in general, or "Listen Lester" in particular. The two fields frequently, although not always, are widely separated.

All in Cast Dancers.
The plot involved in the canning industry and in the process of smoking salmon is certainly more complicated than that of "Listen Lester." There is not much known of the music which accompanies the canning and smoking businesses but if there are any tunes at all they are likely as snappy as those of the show.

But, and here is where the catch comes in, "Listen Lester" has Ada Mae Weeks, who a short time ago was a chorus girl in the "Follies," and Miss Weeks comes pretty close to making the show worth the present high prices. She has youth and grace and beauty and does some wonderful acrobatic dancing which is a delight to the eye. Occasionally she forgets herself and sings, but this is quickly forgiven when she breaks into a dancing number. All of the cast can dance, as a matter of fact, and they do it most of the time. Then there is one young woman who can really sing and a quartette which can make more noise than any other four singers on the stage today. The basis of this aggregation, who looks for all the world like Irvin Cobb, has a really remarkable voice.

Plenty of Bright Lines.
"Listen Lester" starts off with a rush and the fast pace keeps up throughout the first of the two acts. Later on it slows down considerably but there are plenty of pretty girls, notably, after Miss Weeks, Marguerite Francisco, who plays the role of a would-be blackmailer about whom the plot, such as it is, hinges. Then there is Fred Heider, an exceedingly agile comedian, and Joe Brown, who, as Lester Lite, a hotel porter, is required to do little more than look funny, which he does well. What "Listen Lester" really needs is some tuneful music and good lyrics. That combination, however, would insure the success of almost any other show. The piece abounds in bright lines which are pitchforked into the performance and do not come out of the situations, but the laughs and lites Miss Weeks, elevated, properly, from the chorus to near stardom, make "Listen Lester" worth while if not worth $2.75.

"ROADS OF DESTINY" WITH FLORENCE REED, REMARKABLE DRAMA

Has sold the device for $2000 in order to pay blackmail to a rascally preacher, who has discovered his escapade with a village girl. The girl, Rose Carter, has become half-witted over the desertion of her lover, and by accident has found shelter at the Marsh homestead. When Lewis repudiates her, she murders him, and thus opens the way for the happiness of David and Ann. Lewis is dead by the prearranged pistol, and fate has executed its decree that David could find success only through the death of one who loved him—as his brother did, despite his weak villainy.

The device of construction followed is, of course, that known in music as the theme with variations, in which it is sought to obviate the monotony of the material by the variety with which it is treated. So that, although the situations of the various tableaux and even the spoken words repeat themselves, there is opportunity for a great variety of character acting. Miss Reed is first a tough French girl in a gambling resort, then a society girl on Long Island, and finally an idiot drudge in a country town. Williams is a farmer, a professional gambler, a cultivated but evil millionaire, and finally a farmer. The other characters undergo similar changes.

Miss Reed's Impressive Acting.
Miss Reed, in these various roles, vindicates her title to rank among our best emotional actresses. She has pathos which never grows maudlin, vehemence which can rush to the verge of violence and never overstep it, and passion that can be frantic without tearing itself to tatters. The construction of the play provides her with three climaxes instead of one, and each is splendidly realized.

As Rose le Claire, she was equally convincing in the tenderness with which she wooed her unresponsive lover and the defiance with which she challenged the jealous gambler to kill her. As Rosetta Clare she had to display a rapid shifting of emotions. Most touching was her joy when David proposed to marry her, and most poignant her grief on discovering that he was moved only out of duty. But her height in this scene was when, under her bargain with the millionaire, she had to tell David that she was jilting him because he was ruined. Her combination of sob and cynical laughter, her valor in lying, her despairing, but sacrificial love, all were expressed with a power that could have none but a tragic ending. And finest of all, perhaps, was her portrayal of the mad girl, now pleading in pitiful accents with her base lover, and now, after killing him, receding across the stage in peals of maniacal laughter.

MELODRAMA HAS LEAD ON WEEK'S MOVIE BILL

"Hearts of the World" Is Featured at Six Local Theaters.

An American and a Frenchman fight for the love of the Swedish stepdaughter of a Scotchman in "The Wolf" at the Liberty Theater, and, although Earle Williams is presented as the star, Jane Novak, a St. Louis contribution to the movie drama, carries off the honors. She is seen to better advantage in "The Wolf" than in any of her previous roles.

The scenes are laid in California and the work of the photographer is the best part of the production. Robert MacKim, as "The Wolf," presents one of the most repulsive characters seen in a long time. He is so wicked that when he is finally stabbed to death and pitched into a raging stream the audience applauds with relief.

Williams, as Jules Beaubien, Hilda MacTavish's successful suitor, is French only in his accent. Otherwise he is a typical American hero. The leading character role is acted by George Nichols, who, as Andrew MacTavish, is a genuine hard-hearted stepfather.

Gladys Brookwell in "Chasing Rainbows" will be added to the program tonight and during the rest of the week.

An interesting Alaska picture on view here is "The Girl From Outside," which opened for a week's run at the New Grand Central yesterday. This is a dramatization of one of Rex Beach's best stories of the far North. The leading characters are all youthful and they do many things which young persons who seek their fortunes in a far country might be expected to do.

The plot turns about the adventures of a young girl whose father has died on the ship that was taking them to Nome. She arrives a friendless orphan and strangely enough her protectors against many pitfalls in that rough mining community are five young crooks. There is a suggestion of the leading motive of "The Miracle Man" in the way about the regeneration of all the crooks.

David Wark Griffith's great feature film, "Hearts of the World," opened yesterday at the Kings, Roy, al, Shandosh, Junata, and Grand-Floissant, and goes on today at the Lindell. While it has had long runs here at advanced prices, this is its first showing here at the regular rates. All of the houses showing this big attraction were crowded yesterday afternoon and last night.

In the cast are Lillian and Dorothy Gish, Robert Harron, Roy Alexander and George Fawcett.

Charles Ray has a most amusing medium of its kind in "Crooked Straight" which opened at the West End Lyric yesterday. In this play it is necessary for "Charlie" to depart from his small-town traditions and temporarily become a hold-up man and a safecracker, but he quickly repents and reaches the climax of safe locks is used to a good purpose. Another feature on the bill is Ben Turpin in the Mack Sennett comedy "Salome vs. Shandosh."

A feature out of the ordinary at Leo's Garrick, a combination picture and vaudeville house, is a film presentation of a noted stage success, "Thirteenth Chair." It will run up to and including Wednesday.

NEGRO ACCUSED OF ASSAULT BURNED BY MOB IN GEORGIA

Macon Mob Fires 50 Shots Into Body After Black Is Identified by White Woman.

By the Associated Press.
MACON, Ga., Nov. 3.—Paul Jones, a negro, accused of attacking a white woman near the site of Camp Harris yesterday afternoon, was burned to death by a mob at the scene of the crime shortly after midnight.

The negro was arrested by two Deputy Sheriffs, but the mob quickly formed and compelled the officers to take refuge in a box car. Sheriff Hicks, learning of the plight of his deputies, went to the scene and was permitted by the mob, which numbered a thousand or more, to take the negro to the home of the woman for identification. When he identified him the crowd seized the negro and fired 50 or more bullets into his body, after which it was saturated with gasoline and burned. The negro was still alive after this burning and more gasoline was applied.

C. OF C. COMMITTEE TO CONSIDER CHARITIES

Question of Endorsement of Organizations for 1920 to Be Taken Up Tuesday.

The first of a series of meetings of the Charities Committee of the Chamber of Commerce to consider the endorsement of local charities for 1920 will be held at the Chamber of Commerce at 4 p. m. tomorrow. The work of the following institutions will be considered: Women's Christian Home, Memorial Home, Pure Milk Commission, Russell Home, Beth Moshab z'Kelneim Society, St. Joseph's Dear Mute Institute, Jewish Educational and Charitable Alliance, Federation of Jewish Charities, Young Women's Club House, Visiting Nurse Association, Holy Cross Corporation, Blind Girls' Home, Mission Free School, Hospital Saturday and Sunday Association, Miss Wheatley Branch Y. W. C. A., Christian Orphans' Home of the National Benevolent Association, South Side Day Nursery, Kingdom House, Epworth School for Girls, Missouri Association for Occupational Therapy, Guardian Angel Settlement, St. Louis Children's Hospital, Jewish Hospital, Neighborhood Association, and German General Protestant Orphans' Home.

The Charities Committee passes on the business management of the charity and receives a report from the Central Council of Social Agencies on the social service work the agency is doing. When both of these reports have been filed with the committee, the facts must meet the following requisites in order to receive approval:

1. The organization shall be incorporated and have responsible active managers.
 2. The organization shall be doing a work commensurate with the amount of money expended.
 3. Each organization shall fill a need not already filled.
 4. The funds of each organization shall be raised in an approved manner. The committee will refuse endorsement when an excessive percentage is paid to collectors, when the expenses of an entertainment or the manner of raising funds is disproportionate to the receipts, or when the means or raising funds are objectionable for other reasons.
 5. An annual audit satisfactory to the committee shall be furnished. Special rates for auditing will be given to endorsed charities, provided application is made through the secretary of the Charities Committee and certain rules are complied with.
 6. Charities shall belong to the Central Council of Social Agencies.
 7. Charities engaged in relief work shall register their cases with the Registration Bureau and help pay for this service.
 8. Charities planning to extend their work shall first submit their plans to the Charities Committee.
 9. New schedules must be submitted by charitable organizations each year.
- Fifteen minutes of the meeting will be open for discussion of the proposed plan to federate St. Louis charities. A number of organizations have indicated approval of the plan, and a representative of the Children's Aid Society will meet the committee for the purpose of outlining why that agency believes the St. Louis charities should be federated.
- The members of the Charities Committee are George D. Markham, chairman; Dr. Hanau W. Loeb, Dr. A. S. Barnes Jr., Harry ter Braak, Albert von Hoffmann, Dr. W. H. Leudeke, Dr. Gustave Moritz, Charles F. Pettus, Charles Reibstock, J. J. Searcy, Walter D. Thompson, Lewis T. Tunc, George W. Wilson.

PENNSYLVANIA LABOR VOTES FOR A STATEWIDE STRIKE

It Would Be Called as Last Resort in Fight for Free Speech and Free Assembly.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 3.—A resolution recommending a statewide strike of organized labor as a last resort in the union's fight for "free speech, free press and free assembly" was adopted by the special convention of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor in session here yesterday. It was announced that only two of the 304 delegates had cast negative ballots. Under the resolution the executive council of the State Federation is instructed "to issue a call for a statewide strike when, in its judgment, it is necessary to compel respect for law and the restoration of liberty."

Gov. Epperson was asked to call a special session of the Legislature to act as an impeachment tribunal against public officials who are accused by the union of violating their oaths of office.

SERGT. ELLIS GETS GOLD MEDAL

Sergt. Michael B. Ellis, 1908 Cass avenue, this city's most decorated hero, was presented with a gold medal at a reception yesterday in Polish hall, 1938 Cass avenue, which was attended by about 1000 persons. It was announced that Sergt. Ellis would be a guest of honor at the celebration of Armistice day in the Coliseum.

Lieutenant-Colonel Dwight F. Davis urged that Poles who served America in the war should organize a branch of the American Legion. Twenty-eight former soldiers indicated that they would join such a post.

To Help Nature Shed a Bad Complexion

Beauty devotees are enthusiastic over the beautifying qualities of marcolated wax. Nothing discovered within recent years accomplishes so much, so quickly, without harm, at such small expense. The principal reason for its wonderful merit is that it works in harmony with physiological laws. Instead of hiding complexion defects, it removes them. It actually takes off the aged, faded, mallow-freckled or blotchy surface skin—suntan, gradually, causing no inconvenience. It is Nature's way of renewing complexion.

When the natural process is retarded because of deficient circulation or nerve tone, marcolated wax comes to the rescue and hastens the skin shedding. The new complexion which appears is a natural one—youthful, healthy, envied and beautiful. If you've never tried marcolated wax, "set an ounce of it at the drug store, use at night like cold cream, washing it off in the morning.—ADV.

Truth is mighty and will prevail

Extract from Former Att'y-Gen. LEWIS' letter:

In re FORSTMANN & HUFFMANN CO. and
JULIUS FORSTMANN

AFTER three weeks of almost continuous study of the records in this case, Mr Otis now presents a report going thoroughly into the evidence, from which it appears to my satisfaction that, if I had been able to give the time personally to an examination of the complete record, I should not have approved of the report, as made by Mr. Becker, in so far as it reflects upon your client.

"Indeed, I am satisfied that if it had not been for pressure by the War Trade Board for an immediate report, Mr. Becker would not have made the reflections upon the loyalty and integrity of your clients that appear therein.

"In view of this I have carefully gone over Mr. Otis' report . . . I am forced to the conclusion that the report as made by Mr. Becker and approved by me contains reflections upon the loyalty and integrity of Mr. Julius Forstmann which are not warranted by the evidence. . . and I think make the reflections cast upon him unfair and unjust."

(SIGNED) MERTON E. LEWIS

The libels against my firm and myself have been repeated so often that I have accepted the advice of our counsel, Mr. Robert H. McCarter of New Jersey and Mr. Julius Henry Cohen of New York, to publish the following letter, from which the above is a part. I am sure our many good friends will be glad to have this clear statement from former Attorney-General Lewis to combat the subtle and powerful influences that have been used against us.

JULIUS HENRY COHEN, Esq.

October 27th, 1919.

In re Forstmann & Hoffman Co. and
JULIUS FORSTMANN

My dear Mr. Cohen:

Some weeks ago you called my attention to a report in the above entitled matter, dated April 3, 1918, made by Mr. Alfred L. Becker, a Deputy Attorney General during my term of office, who had charge of the investigation conducted by my office pursuant to the provisions of the Peace and Safety Act, Chapter 595, Laws of 1917. The report was approved and adopted by me and you have asked me to examine the record and determine whether such approval was justified. As this record is voluminous, I requested Mr. Alexander Otis, also a Deputy Attorney General under my administration, to examine the testimony and documents and prepare a report thereon for me.

After three weeks of almost continuous study of the records in this case, Mr. Otis now presents a report going thoroughly into the evidence, from which it appears to my satisfaction that, if I had been able to give the time personally to an examination of the complete record, I should not have approved of the report, as made by Mr. Becker, in so far as it reflects upon your clients. Indeed, I am satisfied that if it had not been for pressure by the War Trade Board for an immediate report, Mr. Becker would not have made the reflections upon the loyalty and integrity of your clients that appear therein.

I recall distinctly that at one of the hearings at which I was present, I gave to Mr. Forstmann's representative my assurance that his client would be given full opportunity to answer any matters which he might care to explain. Mr. Forstmann appeared voluntarily and not in response to a subpoena, and without such an appearance my office would have had no jurisdiction to inquire into his loyalty. During his examination he was repeatedly requested not to interpose any explanation, but to answer directly the questions put to him. This was during the examination of March 15th and 16th, 1918, at which I was present. I did not attend the subsequent hearing held March 27th, March 29th and April 2nd. It was not until the last hearing that Mr. Forstmann's defense and explanations were put in. His side of the case covers 175 pages of testimony and includes many documents and letters, the due consideration of which required considerable time. This was April 2nd, and the report is dated April 3rd. On April 6th, as I am advised by Mr. Otis, the minutes of the last hearing were delivered to Mr. Becker by the stenographer. It appears, therefore, that the report was dictated by Mr. Becker without having before him the minutes of the proceedings in which Mr. Forstmann's defense was interposed and without the advantage of any brief or summary by counsel which might have indicated the value and significance of the evidence introduced in Mr. Forstmann's behalf.

In view of this I have carefully gone over Mr. Otis' report and have read considerable portions of the evidence presented at the hearings which I did not attend. I am forced to the conclusion that the report as made by Mr. Becker and approved by me contains reflections upon the loyalty and integrity of Mr. Julius Forstmann which are not warranted by the evidence. While there were circumstances tending to create suspicion, Mr. Forstmann's explanations seem to me satisfactory, and I think make the reflections cast upon him unfair and unjust.

Any public officer may make a mistake in war times, when quick action is required, but when it appears that an innocent man has suffered with the guilty, I feel it my duty to say so and express my regret. I hand you herewith a copy of Mr. Otis' report in this matter, which goes into the details at length and you are at liberty to make such use of it as you may deem proper. I hope that it will have the effect of correcting the injustice that has been done to your clients.

Sincerely yours,

(Signed) MERTON E. LEWIS.

THREE MEN GET $879 IN SHOE STORE HOLDUP

Rob Proprietors and Ransack Safe—Burglar Attacks Girl, 15, in Employer's Home.

Three men, one of whom was masked with a handkerchief, held up the shoe store of Aaron Epstein, 501-503 Morgan street, yesterday morning. They took $725 and a check for $22 from the safe, $55 from Albert Epstein, 5243 North Market street, $75 from the cash register and $2 from Aaron Epstein. They escaped in an automobile.

Minnie Repolsky, 15 years old, of Witt, Ill., employed in the home of Charles Morris, 4044 Washington boulevard, encountered a burglar when she returned to the Morris home from a walk in the afternoon. He threatened her with a revolver, she said and attacked her.

When the Morris family returned home an hour later the girl was hysterical. A physician confirmed her statement. A silver cigarette case and a revolver were missing from the apartment. The front door bore marks of a "blowdown."

Woman Finds Burglar in Home.
Mrs. Edward H. Joy, 5567 Pershing avenue, reported that after she had retired Saturday night she heard a noise in the front part of her home and found a burglar ransacking a dresser. He pointed a revolver at her, she said, and ordered her to "get back to bed." Later, when the burglar had departed, she missed $60 in cash, jewelry valued at $50 and a two-gallon jug of whisky. Imprints of a rubber heel were found on a front window sill.

Policemen attracted to the station of William Holzhauser, 2723 Market street, by the playing of an electric piano yesterday afternoon, found that the place had been ransacked by burglars. The piano had been broken open and $5 in nickels removed, after which the instrument had been set in motion.

Burglars stole $38 in cash, a pistol and a watch from the saloon of Larry Petravitch, 2558 Chouteau avenue.

Thieves Get $800 in Loot.
Jewelry and clothing valued at about $800 were stolen in burglaries at the homes of Edgar Embrey, 724 Clara avenue; William L. Kaltwasser, 5754 De Giverville avenue; Herbert J. Latta, 4457 North Market street; Arthur Hillier, 1224 A Barry street, and Bernard Kraus, 1826 Benton street.

Theft of wraps at dances were reported by Miss Effie Jordan, 324 South Eighteenth street; Miss Helen Douglas, 4227 Easton avenue, and Leo H. Graff, 5367 Claxton avenue.

The "polyglot petition," asking for the abolition of intoxicating liquor and opium, said to have been signed by 7,500,000 women, will be exhibited at the national convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union at the Odeon during the week of Nov. 15-22.

The petition has circulated for two years in 50 countries. Signatures are said to be in every script of the civilized world. It is composed of 3000 yards of muslin web, and consists of many sections.

Union services in commemoration of the Reformation were held yesterday afternoon at St. Peter's Evangelical Church, St. Louis and Warren avenues, for North St. Louis churches, and at St. Matthew's Evangelical Church at Jefferson avenue and Potomac street, for South Side churches. About 25 churches participated.

The Rev. J. C. Kramer of Bethesda and the Rev. Suedmeyer of Ebenezer Church, made addresses at St. Peter's. The Rev. C. Schneider of Eden Seminary and the Rev. O. Klenker of St. Stephen's Church, spoke at St. Matthew's. There was special music at both meetings.

SIX PLANES CARRY TRUCK PARTS

Will Land at Scott Field as Mud Prevents Arrival at Forest Park.

Six airplanes bringing parts to a local dealer from a Wabash (Ind.) automobile truck manufacturer are expected to arrive at Scott Field, Belleville, this afternoon. Landing at Forest Park Field had been scheduled but mud prevented. The planes left Wabash this morning.

If the field dries, the airplanes may land at Forest Park tomorrow. Flights with city officials are planned then. Wednesday the aviators will depart with parts for dealers in Kansas City, Tulsa, Ok., and Fort Worth, Tex.

Belgian Prince Becomes Senator.

By the Associated Press.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 3.—Crown Prince Leopold, on reaching his majority (18 years) today, is entitled to occupy a seat as a Senator. A residence will be established for him in the palace formerly occupied by his father. Belgian Princes of the reigning branch of the royal family are by right Senators at 18, but have no voice in the deliberations until they are 25.

BILL TO CONTINUE SUGAR BOARD PRESENTED TO SENATE

Enough to Meet Demand to Jan. 1, but Danger Exists in Lack of Control, Report Says.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The bill proposing continuation of Federal control over sugar during 1920 was reported today to the Senate and placed on the calendar with a view to early action.

In a majority report, Senator McNary, Republican, of Oregon, author of the bill and chairman of the Senate Agriculture Subcommittee which investigated the sugar shortage, declared "a serious situation will ensue" if the Sugar Equalization Board's control over sugar is discontinued.

Minority views, presented by Senator Ransdell, Democrat, of Louisiana, expressed agreement in the plan to continue the Sugar Board, with authority for its purchase of Cuban sugar, but opposed giving the board power to buy and sell domestic sugar as likely to depress prices unduly in Louisiana and other domestic sugar.

Senator McNary's report suggested that present conditions were largely psychological, due to fears of future shortages.

Data in the hands of the committee, the report states, showed that about 750,000 tons of Cuban and domestic sugar is available for distribution until Jan. 1, which should meet the needs of the country. The world shortage of sugar was estimated at 2,000,000 tons over the pre-war average.

BOLSHEVIKI SAID TO HAVE GIVEN UP TOWN OF KRASNAYA GORKA

Its Possession Had Been One of Strongest Obstacles Between Yudenitch and Petrograd.

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 3.—The town of Krasnaia Gorka, the strong Bolshevik position on the Gulf of Finland, just to the west of the island of which the fortress of Kronstadt stands, has capitulated to the forces of Yudenitch, according to a dispatch from Reval.

Early in Gen. Yudenitch's campaign for Petrograd it was reported that Krasnaia Gorka had fallen, but the reports proved untrue. Continued possession of it by the Bolsheviks had been one of their main sources of strength in defending Petrograd.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Nov. 3.—Petrograd has been without bread for the last two weeks, thousands of persons dying daily, according to information brought to Helsingfors by a Finn who escaped from a prison camp at Moscow on Oct. 12. The population of Petrograd has fallen below 400,000, he said. The schools were closed, owing to lack of fuel, he also reported, while the prices of foodstuffs now available were so high as to be entirely out of reach of the poor.

Potatoes were bringing 110 rubles a pound. Milk was 80 rubles a pint and meat was unobtainable.

The latest reports from the army of Gen. Yudenitch declare that he is steadily advancing on the entire front before Petrograd and to the south, his right flank being fully protected as a result of the progress made by the Estonians.

Today the British fleet continued its bombardment of all the islands between the Finnish coast and Krasnaia Gorka, encouraged by Gen. Yudenitch's improved position.

The Case for the Miners.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
If your editorial writers would get around the miners, and get their side of the coal question, they would soon learn the cause of the present unrest which, if they wanted to be just and impartial, would cause them to change their ideas. The American miners agreed that they would not strike during the war, and that they would assist the Government in every possible manner, as the records show they did their duty faithfully both in France and in this country every time they were called on.

The coal operators also did their duty. They made more money during and since the war than they made in the 10 years previous, and they are making it yet. At the present time, in the Henryetta field of Oklahoma, it costs on the average $2.50 to put a ton of coal on the flat; nearly two weeks ago it was selling at $4.50; so that you see for every ton the miner loaded he got about $3 cents, while the operator got four dollars ($4) in profit. As some of the mines here produce 600 or 700 tons per day, you will readily see that the operators are getting the best of it a little.

If all the demands of the miners are granted, it will cost in this field $2 per ton more, approximately, to put the coal on the flat. One of the leading operators in this field made a statement to a Muskogee Phoenix reporter about a week ago and said that, should the demands be granted, the cost of coal in Muskogee would be raised from $3 per ton to $5, so that he is figuring on making the consumers pay him $2 for every $2 he pays the miner. I imagine the average mine operator's mind works similar to this man's. All the demands could be granted easily at present prices without raising the cost of coal to the consumer.

The main trouble is that the big financiers have been making contracts with countries in Europe, and all over the world, to sell coal cheaper than they could produce it themselves, or procure it from countries nearer. They were under the impression that the American miner was going to be content with a 35-cent advance when the cost of living has advanced 130, and is still advancing. The British miner went on strike time and again even during the darkest period of the war, and his patriotism was never questioned, as the public knew that the coal operators could afford to pay him more wages, and he had to have more in order to enable him to live.

Common labor is from $4 to $6 per day in this strike, while the average for the mine workers is not much over $5. Any one who has been around the mines, or reads the newspapers, knows that the miners' occupation is very hazardous. He is in danger all the time; at the best his work is heavy, breathing impure air, perhaps working in water, in a place where in this field it is only 3 feet high. I don't think that any reasonable person who knows the conditions under which the miner performs his work would deny him sufficient wages to enable him to live and raise his family according to the American standards.

As to the argument that the war is not ended, it seems to me that when one party in a fight can't fight any longer and quits, the fight is over; a technicality must not—and if the opinion of the mine workers in this field goes for anything, will not be allowed to rule in this case. The miners in this field are with President Lewis to the last man, and will back him up to the limit. When, as in this field, conditions are such that a miner, after shooting his coal and loading it out, receives 43 cents per ton, while the man who stays on top sells the same coal at a clear profit of over $4, there is bound to be trouble.

JAMES H. JACKSON,
A Henryetta (Ok.) Miner.

Women Who "Cheaper Paradise"

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
One Sunday morning while attending religious services at Valley Park one of the worshippers was shocked by seeing a number of young boys and girls come into church dressed in bathing suits.

Later the train returning to the city carried the same party. If the onlooker was shocked at church in the morning, what words will describe the feeling experienced in the evening, for now the young people were weary, so weary that they forgot the presence of everyone else, and they simply sought to make themselves comfortable. They nestled close to each other, while the girls stretched their legs across the aisle, resting their feet on the laps of the boys sitting in these seats, the boys meanwhile having gone to sleep on the bar necks of the girls who were lying on their shoulders. There were worse things still, but enough of disgusting details!

The scene was sickening, and such occurrences unfortunately make these lines from Patmore true: "Woman, how thou hast cheapened Paradise!"

ONE INTERESTED IN GIRLS.

THE LAW AND THE OPERATORS.

Attorney-General Palmer's warning to the coal operators that they will not be permitted to take advantage of the coal strike for the purpose of plundering the public is well taken.

The proposal of President Marshall, of the Wholesale Coal Trade Association, that all restrictions be taken off the price of coal and its distribution is an amazing piece of impudent greed. The combination of increasing demand with decreasing supply, should the coal strike continue, would offer a golden opportunity for unlimited profiteering. District strikes and threats of strikes have been used almost habitually by operators as excuses for frightening consumers and advancing prices. These local profiteering schemes were bad enough, but with a nation-wide strike, in which the Government is enforcing the Lever law against strikers, to give rein to the operators to utilize it by holding up consumers would be outrageous. It is preposterous for them to suggest anything of the kind. It puts the offense of the miners in trying to force their demands by a coal tie-up in the shade.

The Attorney-General properly warns the operators that, as the Government is acting solely in the public interest, the operators will not be permitted to take any advantage of the situation and will take against persons arranging, or combining, to do so, by restricted production or distribution and thus enhancing prices, the same action taken against the officers of the miners' union.

This is the square deal. The issue of law and public welfare as against selfish interest, lawless greed and force must be fought out, irrespective of persons and interests.

The law must be enforced against all offenders—operators and miners, employers and employees. It is the whole people and their Government of law against any and all classes and special interests.

CITY DAYLIGHT-SAVING LAWS ILLEGAL.

A writer in the New York Sun argues convincingly as to the illegality of municipal or state enactments perpetuating the so-called daylight-saving regulation after Congress has repealed it.

He says that under the constitutional clause giving it the power "to fix standards of weights and measures," the ultimate authority in prescribing the division of time rests with Congress. However, under a familiar principle, as long as Congress did not choose to exercise this power, validity attached to state or municipal regulations on the subject. The daylight-saving law of 1918, when passed by Congress, at once superseded all other legislation on the subject and, further, took away all right in other quarters to enact such legislation. The repeal bill merely abrogated that part of the act directing that the hands of the clock be advanced an hour in April and turned back an hour in October. The remainder of the act prescribing standard time is still in effect and operates as a bar to any daylight-saving regulations imposed by city aldermen or State legislators. Such regulations, in fact, might have validity for state and city employees in official work, but for no others.

That this is more than an academic or moot point can be appreciated from the fact that time is a vital element in many contracts and other arrangements. In protesting notes and declaring important agreements unfulfilled, acceptance of daylight-saving time rather than legal congressional time might have unpleasant consequences.

THE COMING OF IBANEZ.

Of all works of fiction which owe their origin to the war, the one which up to this time seems to have a promise of the most permanent value was written by an author of a neutral nation. This work is "Los Cuatro Jinetes Del Apocalipsis," and this author is Vincente Blasco Ibanez, who has just arrived in this country for a visit of several months.

Twenty-one editions last March, 20 last February, 16 last January and 36, or more than one a day, last December, are a part of an impressive record telling the story of the popularity in this country of the authorized translation of Ibanez's "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." It is a book which transgresses many of the laws arbitrarily laid down for story telling. It opens a few hours after the declaration of war on France and its narrative thereafter moves back and forth capriciously and often rather confusingly over a period of 30 or 40 years. But after all preliminaries are arranged and the reader is made acquainted with three generations of dramatic personae, the action moves forward irresistibly and majestically through the tragic developments of the war in Paris and rural France.

Ibanez is, above everything else, a writer of novels with a purpose. One of his older stories is aimed at the dramsoph and another at the Spanish national pastime, bull-fighting. This novel exploits the merits of the allied cause. But although a war story, its hero, if it may be said to have a hero, never saw the war, died years before it broke out. This is old Don Julio Madariaga, the Argentinian, who could smile amiably when the death from disease or inclement weather of 15,000 or 20,000 head of his cattle was reported to him and to whom was scandalously attributed the paternity of an amazing number

As war propaganda it is far more adroit and subtle and effective than any propaganda work appearing in the language of any of the nations that fought on the Entente side. Still, as we have been made very familiar with the viewpoints of war propaganda of all sorts, even the subtle sort, and with the scenes and events attending the war, the first part of the novel, dealing with the New World, will seem to us better and more refreshing than the last part, dealing with the Old, in convulsion.

Tens of thousands of Americans, to whom his name even was previously unknown, have made an acquaintance with Ibanez's genius through this masterly book. Thoughtful critics, after a review of the whole field and assignment of merit where merit is due, have declared him the greatest novel writer living today. His presence here ought to give stimulus to a revival of American letters, succeeding the apathy and unfruitfulness of war time.

ART AND CHARACTER.

The St. Louis Exposition of Arts and Crafts, in the opinion of Miss Florence N. Levy of New York, general manager of the Art Alliance of America, marks an epoch in the industrial development of the United States. With due allowance for enthusiasm, the judgment, we believe, is correct. Certainly this Exposition is making us all think of art in new terms. We have gotten a grasp of its practical value we didn't have before. We have perceived the power of beauty in the day's work.

And if this Exposition has an epochal effect upon our industry, it is also going to have an epochal effect upon our character. It is a strange thing, after the demonstration of the last few dreadful years, that we have not associated the influence of art upon national character. Many illustrations might be given, but incomparably the greatest is that of France.

In many important respects the deportment of France excelled that of any other nation. For example, the freedom of the French press remained practically unimpaired. Information of value to the enemy being the only restriction. While the wearing of mourning was forbidden in Germany, and discouraged in many other countries, including our own, the women of France wore black dresses for their dead, with never a suspicion that it might depress the morale.

How splendid was the behavior of Paris, the frivolous, under the fatal slave of the super-gun. People were killed daily by that long-distance monster, but Paris shrugged her shoulders, contemptuously dubbed it "Embellie," and pursued the even tenor of her way.

That the French were artistic we all knew, but the knowledge meant hardly anything to us. Most of us had judged the French temperamental, mercurial, flighty; delightful in a superficial way, but wanting in the sturdy essentials. Those stupid, unenlightened judgments have been swept away by a fortune, a stoicism of Spartan mold. We now see, with clear, comprehending vision, not only the beauty of the Louvre or the Place de la Concorde, but the meaning of that beauty. It has been a revelation. "Crowning the glory revealed is the glory that crowns the revelation."

The character of a people is expressed in its art.

It's a strange mental fracture those chaps have sustained who imagine they can make faster time to Utopia by stopping the clock.

PERSHING AT THE FRONT.

That protean pest, the doubting Thomas, appears to drop a skeptical tablet into the Pershing cup. Where and when was Pershing at the front, queries Representative Sherwood of Ohio. He asks official information from the House Military Committee, his request being predicated on the testimony of soldiers who have told him they never saw or heard of Pershing in the red mele.

Page Pershing! And while about it call Foch and Haig, Cadorna, Diaz, and call Von Hindenburg, too. For the doughboy was not the only fighting man who failed to see his General leading the charge with flashing sword, according to the tactics of legend and lithography. Pollu and Tommy Atkins, Italian and German and all the rest, were all sent into grips with death by orders issued miles and miles away.

Yet each of those commanders had served his day at the front. The only carpet knicks of the world war were the Hohenzollern half dozen. The Capt. Pershing of a Filipino day was seen often and disconcertingly at the front. But the Moro witnesses to his deportment under fire are not in a position to file a report with the House Military Committee except by ouija board or medium. The Moros who mixed it up with Pershing are mostly dead.

The Ohio Representative who questions Pershing is himself a warrior. A Brigadier-General in the Civil War, he recounts the number of officers of that rank who fell in battle. But the first in command did not fall; neither were they seen at the front, yet the valor of the Lees and Grants never needed a congressional certificate.

The Committee on Public Information, according to official reports before Congress, was grossly negligent in handling funds, its unbusinesslike methods having cost the Government more than $6,000,000. This is conceding to Congress, which, it will be generally conceded, is entirely capable of getting rid of all the funds the Government can get hold of.

THE MAN WITH THE LANTERN.

A Fable of Determinism.

MAN was walking along a woodland path by night. The path wound back and forth, and the darkness was deep. He carried a lantern in order that he might not lose his way.

Somewhere about the middle of the wood the crooked path lay not far away from the hut of a Determinist who had become a hermit in order to more fully develop his theory. Seeing the man passing along the path with the lantern, the Determinist thus reasoned with himself:

"One might easily conclude," said he, "judging by appearances, that this man was walking along this woodland path, choosing his way and guiding himself by the light of the lantern."

But, as is well known, appearances are deceptive. There are many factors to be considered in explaining this phenomenon. There is the man's heredity, his parentage and ancestry, the fact that he is a biped, of the genus homo; the fact that there is a path and that it lies through this wood; the fact of gravity, which keeps him on the ground; the motive which started him on his journey and the hope of some benefit, however slight, which keeps him traveling by night along this path; the fact that he carries a lantern, and the further fact that the path is winding and is bordered by trees.

All these various facts of his nature and his environment are sufficient in themselves to account for the phenomenon of the walk, without supposing that the man is himself deliberately determining his actions.

In other words, the true state of affairs can be seen to be that the environment, plus the heredity and individuality produced by the former environment and response to that environment—I say it can be seen that all these various factors are sufficient to account for what we now see.

In fine, the sum total of all these, not forgetting the path, the trees and the lantern, are WALKING THE MAN. He, poor fool, thinks he is walking himself; but we Determinists know that he is deceived. It is the totality of things, focusing at this point and acting upon him as the center of its play, so to speak, which has produced the phenomenon which we call a man walking through a wood.

To prove this—take away the man's heredity, his growth and development up to this time, all the knowledge he has gained and all the motives which induced him to take this walk; take away the environment, consisting of the apparently solid earth, the trees, the darkness, the woodland path, his brain, his muscles, nerves, legs and feet; nay, even his lantern, and what is left? Would the phenomenon of the man walking still appear?

What you call a man, then, is nothing but a focus or center of an infinite succession and concatenation of changing factors, accidents determined by previous accidents, the result at this point and this moment of the interplay of an infinity of forces, each infinite set of which by its own action at a given moment and at a given point determines the set immediately following.

And my theory—that it is but the determined and inevitable result of my heredity, my growth, my environment? How, then, do I know it is the truth? I do not know and can have no means of knowing, because I, too, am but the focus of a series or set of phenomena constantly changing and having no real guiding power, no ego or "deus in machina," any more than has a kaleidoscope which is rolling down an incline.

Qui bono?

H. M. WILLIAMS.

One thing about a democracy that must commend it to us all as a form of government is that there is never anything mysterious about a republic. You have perhaps noticed that. All sorts of gossip arises as to this, that and the other thing in a country ruled by autocrats; but that is never true of a democracy. It seems that in a democracy everything is open and above board. In our own country, for instance, anyone interested in what is going on has only to come over here and see for himself. We may be sure, too, that they are doing that every day. Germany under the Kaiser was an unknown land. One could go there, but one found out nothing. Stories of what Germany was doing made up half the gossip of the world. Today one can go into Germany and find out about anything interesting the outside. Witness the collapse of the story that Germany is full of manufactured goods with which the world is to be swamped immediately peace is declared. There is nothing to that story, but except for the democracy in Germany it would still prey upon us. Anything pertaining to Japan has about it the atmosphere of mystery. Japan is an autocracy. Anything pertaining to China is as open as an old-fashioned pie. China is a republic. Mystery gathers about autocratic government, and republican government dispels mystery. We shall have an altogether open-and-above-board world when the last King gives way to a republic.

HIS IDEAL.

As a student at school
An ideal was blazoned in his heart.
And it grew more brilliant
As it was cherished.

As a graduate
Its loftiness gleamed before him
Like a star in the firmament.
Strive for it, he would.
Through all the dark chaos of the world.

Then in the swirl of industry,
Shafts of promise piled
Through the mists of dust,
The ideal.

He would grind the obstacles
With the teeth of his will
And defy eternity in his mission.

Then one day
When the sun shone brightest
And bells of attainment
Clanged in fantastic ecstasy,
He lost his ideal—
He married it.

TURMOIL IN AUSTRALIA.

NEW leaders are needed in many countries to guide the people out of the wilderness of post-war problems and the need seems to be especially felt in Australia, where the spread of Bolshevism and the influence of reactionary political ideas form an admirable combination for use and abuse.

This is the way it looks to an Australian correspondent of the London National Review, who is positive in his declaration that "it is becoming obvious that the future of Australia depends on the Anzacs," and "signs that they understand this multiplying." The impression of home that Anzac got on his return from the battle fields of Europe may be gathered from the remark of one of the Melbourne newspapers: "This is the 'headlined with strikes and rumors of strikes' dotted all over with complaints about government extravagance and private profiteering, reparations delays and arbitration eccentricities. The Anzac Court were arguing in a tone of repressed bitterness up and down one column; in another, a door to the festivities welcoming the return of the warships, alleged naval officers ventilated the grievances about delayed promotions; across the page stretched the official announcement of restrictions on the use of gas and electricity, more drastic than any issued while the war was on. That page was backed with a huge advertisement of an 'astounding cheap sale' at which prices averaged 25 per cent advance on the ordinary prices of 1917."

"The seamen have struck on all coastal boats the wharf laborers have struck; the builders' laborers have struck. Labor on the great stages of wheat awaiting export is hopelessly stagnant. The strike of seamen and wharf laborers has thrown out of work at least 50,000 innocent people in Melbourne alone. State school teachers have threatened a stop-work meeting to protest against their low pay. State policemen have invaded the chief secretary's office and harangued him against his will; other State employees (civil servants or artisans) are an arranging 'public demonstration' of their grievances. One section of coal miners' out of work and another is working itself into a striking mood."

"And all this in a country possessing the widest suffrage, the most legislatures (for its size), and the best arbitration system (according to its leading politicians) in the world."

THE FUEL PROBLEM IN FRANCE.

PRACTICAL experiments to determine the possibility of the utilization of tidal power to be good for the coal shortage under which France is expected to suffer for a long time will be carried out under Government auspices in St. Brevin Bay, on the north coast of Brittany. The committee appointed for the scientific investigation and study of hydroelectric power will undertake the experimentation by Government orders. Experiments also are being conducted to determine the possibility of replacing coal wholly or in part on the railways, in gas, water and power plants and for domestic purposes. The Petit Parisien states that the use of gasoline in the chief of water and power plants of the public service contemplated and that the measure may be possible a daily saving of four thousand tons of coal for domestic use. It would require a thousand tons of gasoline a month, possibly imported from the United States.

The paid admissions totaled over 3500, it was announced. This bettered the record crowd that saw a round at Athletic Park some years ago. This despite the Municipal League opening in the public parks. The spectators were repaid with two of the best contests staged this season.

In the opener the rejuvenated Screw Co. eleven defeated the Scullins, 2 to 0, with the Innisfails and Millers, battling to a 4-4 tie. The result of the closing clash left the Irishmen in first place by two points, while the victory for the Screw Co. enabled them to tie the Scullins for third.

The battle between the Millers and Innisfails brought back to old rivalries the days of the St. Leo-Innisfail clashes. There was a scrap from the minute the eleven took the field until the final whistle. The Millers received the kickoff and rushed down the field. The Innisfails did not stop until after "Hap" Marre had banged one past Barnett for the first goal after taking a cross from McHenry.

Marre and Prindle Chased. After this the Irishmen tried hard, but the pass work of Rattian's men completely baffled them, and before long the Millers were again shooting at the goal. After Barnett had cleared a hard shot from Pote, Marre sent the ball through for his second goal.

Shortly afterward, Marre was ejected from the game for fouling by Referee Kavayaga after he had twice been warned. "Micky" Prindle of the Irishmen also tried to get in the mixup and was chased, leaving the two teams with only 10 men.

It was after this that the Innisfalls took life, and Tommy Mitchell, out right, put through the first point for the green jersey kickers. Shortly afterwards, after "Honus" King had cleared a shot, Mitchell caught King out of position and put through the tying point. The half ended this way.

Foley Charged His Charge. To start the second period, Willie Foley made several changes, benching Kelo, who was playing his first game, putting Schweppes at half and Bart Holland at full. The Innisfalls started with a rush, and after Mitchell, E. McDickens and Johnson, Hack and La Barge, the Screw Co. backfield men, had to take time out after being rushed by Brannigan.

The Scullins had 12 shots at goal and the Screw Co. eight. The corner kicks were 10 for the Scullins and four for the Screw Co. Each team had three fouls. The Screw Co. was off-side twice, while each had three free kicks. Sheehan stopped three shots at goal and La Barge four.

Standings of the teams:

| Team      | W | L | T | Pts. | Goals |
|-----------|---|---|---|------|-------|
| Innisfail | 1 | 0 | 0 | 2    | 1     |
| Millers   | 1 | 0 | 0 | 2    | 1     |
| Screw Co. | 1 | 0 | 0 | 2    | 1     |
| Scullins  | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0    | 2     |

A recapitulation of the battle showed that the Millers had 18 shots at goal, against 12 for the Innisfalls.

18 Teams in Municipal League Score Only 10 Goals in Opening Contests

CLOSE games were the rule in the opening contests of the Municipal Soccer League at the various public parks yesterday. Nine battles were staged and in this number the 18 eleven were able to count only 10 goals, an average of a bit more than one per game.

Half of the number came in the two games at Carondelet Park, where the Eckhardts downed the Schumachers, 2-0, and the Southern A. C. trounced the S. S. Mary and Josephs, 3-0. Stanton and Pink counted for the Eckhardts and Conners with two and Maister tallied for the Southern.

In the one game in the Fairground No. 2 division, the Palladians and Millers battled to a scoreless tie.

Trumbulls Start With Victory. At Fairground No. 2, the 1918-19

champion Trumbulls inaugurated their campaign by stopping the Hermanns, 1-0, with Misset shooting the lone goal. In the other game, Peppers goal enabled the Prendergasts to nose out the Ben Millers, 1-0.

At Fairground No. 1, the St. Teresas and St. Leo's fought it out to a scoreless tie, while the Holy Rosarys trimmed the All Saints, 1-0. Joe Comer counted the lone point.

Two 1-0 games resulted at Sherman Park. The Blessed Sacraments trimmed the Paul Mueller's, while the American Zinos composed matters. Spanish players, downed the Union Avenue Business Men. Oster and H. Menendes counted the goals.

Because of the attraction at Cardinal Field, only a fair crowd witnessed the games at Fairground. However, about 3000 were present at Carondelet and Sherman Parks.

A Fat Failure. For all the trouble between the St. Paul and Vernon players in the recent "little world's series" the Vernon management is blaming vernor owner Patty Arbuckle who at the time had an option on the Vernon club which he has since failed to exercise. Thorpe, Aided by Guyon and Griggs, Beats Akron, 19-7

Carlisle Indian Star Has Assembled Greatest Backfield in Football History.

CANTON, O., Nov. 3.—Two spectacular 60-yard runs, numerous line smashes which broke up the defense of the opposing eleven, punting that averaged 55 yards and forward passes that were fast and accurate nearly every time, showed yesterday that Jim Thorpe, famous Carlisle Indian star, was still as good as when he won his all-American honors. He led his team of former collegiate stars, the Canton Bulldogs, to victory over the Akron Indians, in a series for the world's football title. The score was 19 to 7.

Thorpe has assembled one of the greatest back fields ever seen in football history. In Guyon, his companion half, all-American, Callic, full from West Virginia, and Griggs, quarter, from Texas.

They are one of the greatest aggregations of runners and line-smashers ever seen in action.

Signal and Wind Drills to Remove Billiken Flaws

Running Off of Plays Against Valparaiso Saturday Not Quite Up to Required Standard.

Wind sprints and signal practice will be the chief work on the program of the Billikens this week in preparation for next Saturday's game with the Marquette eleven. There will be scrimmage, if sufficient material happens to be on hand on the nights when Coach Rademacher wants scrimmage, but the chief task will be improving the wind of the St. Louis University athletes and getting them to a point where it will never be necessary to check signals.

The most surprising feature of the potential strength of the Grand avenue eleven and overestimating the abilities of Rutherford's men.

Following the Washington-Rolla game, Saturday, Coach Dennie stated that he was convinced St. Louisans are underestimating the potential strength of the Grand avenue eleven and overestimating the abilities of Rutherford's men.

Understand, I do not mean that Washington will defeat St. Louis U. If the two teams met tomorrow, said Dennie. "But I do think that if the men working under Coach Rademacher now continue to report daily for the remainder of the season, that St. Louis University will have a team which will give Washington a mighty hard tussle. The outcome would be a toss-up."

Rolla Strong Against Pikers. Dennie also stated that his men played better against the Pikers during the first half of Saturday's 23-to-0 battle than they had in any previous contest this season. The Rolla players were unanimous in their opinion that the Pikers were better than either the Billikens or the University of Arkansas team, which humbled Rolla, 20 to 0.

Rutherford will start a week of intensive practice today, and the fact that this is supposed to be "easy Monday" will have no effect on the team's preparation for the game.

Washington looked in one period of the Rolla game, Saturday, like an eleven of high power. That was in the third quarter, when Conzelmann will depart for Des Moines where the Drake University team will play.

Frank to Use Drake Plays. Gordon Beck returned yesterday from the Drake-Grinnell contest and will today instruct the freshmen and sophomores in the use of the Drake plays. Beck's instruction of the yearlings on Grinnell formations was considered by Coach Rutherford as one of the outstanding reasons for the Pikeaway defeat of the Rolla.

The team was in good shape after the game. Everyone will be on hand ready for work today. Capt. Grinnell had a sore hip, but he expects to be in today's practice.

Billikens See Ray of Light. Billiken supporters were far from disheartened by the eight-point scoring superiority shown by the Pikers against Rolla. Coach Dennie is said to have remarked that his team played better football than they did in the first two periods of the St. Louis U. game. They were, he said, played better football than they did in the first two periods of the St. Louis U. game.

Against St. Louis Dennie's huskies were able to make first down and a five-yard off-side penalty aided them.

Also it is pertinent that the St. Louis U. team that opposed the Miners was as Rademacher expressed it, "the worst crippled team he ever saw sent into a game."

O'Donnell, Koike, Gallagher, Connor, Donovan, Dolan and Strubinger were nursing injuries which would have justified their being out of the fray. None of the injuries was major, although aggravated in the Valparaiso game. O'Donnell, who had been suffering from a bad hip, was kicked in the head Saturday and taken from the game, but the injury was not serious and will not keep him out of the game.

Both players from the practice sessions this week.

JERABEK TO GET REAL TEST IN NELSON BATTLE

"Sailor" Jerabek, the South Side welterweight, who has "come back" in great style since the opening of the present indoor boxing campaign, will face a real test when he tackles Fred Nelson in one of the eight-round double-winnow bouts at the South Broadway A. C. Tuesday night. It will be the second meeting between the pair.

In the first clash between Jerabek and Nelson on the Odeon at one of the Rialto A. C. shows, Jerabek, after outpointing Nelson for seven rounds, was knocked out in the final session. Following this he did not box again until about six weeks ago when he faced Ora Dean and won by a knock-out in two rounds. Two weeks ago he stopped Pete Marlow in three sessions.

Jimmy Murphy, the South Side bantam, and Patsy Flannagan, another local boy, will clash in the other window contest. Flannagan took on Murphy some time ago, substituting for Nate Jackson and, surprised by gaining a draw in six rounds. Both boxers are working hard for the coming engagement.

Harry Chlemeyer has not yet arranged the preliminary, but Young Dundee, 120-pounder, will probably be one of the principals.

Pikers to Begin Intensive Work for Drake Game

Freshman Will Attack Varsity With Plays Employed by the Iowa Bulldogs.

To all Washington University football followers who consider anything but a decisive Pikeaway victory on Thanksgiving day outside the realm of possibilities, Fred Dennie, director of athletics at the Missouri School of Mines, would say a few words. And to those St. Louis University supporters who are convinced that Fate and the Pikers will hand the Billikens a defeat, Mr. Dennie would also speak.

Following the Washington-Rolla game, Saturday, Coach Dennie stated that he was convinced St. Louisans are underestimating the potential strength of the Grand avenue eleven and overestimating the abilities of Rutherford's men.

Swim S. SHIPS IN YEAR MOST BRITAIN'S EQUAL SHARP GAINS RECORDED IN EARLY STOCK TRADE

Senator Predicts 18,000,000 Tons in Presenting Bill for Future Sea Policy.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Prediction that ships flying the American flag will almost equal the tonnage of Great Britain by the end of 1920 was made in the Senate today by Senator Jones, Republican, of Washington, chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, in introducing his bill proposing a permanent Federal ship policy.

With prospective completion of the Government's shipbuilding program by Dec. 31, 1920, Senator Jones said the United States, including coastwise vessels, will have a mighty fleet of 15,000,000 tons, he added, the two nations will control about two-thirds of the world's tonnage.

Want Share of Trade. "We do not desire and it is not our purpose to take other nations off the seas," said Senator Jones, "but we do want to do, and we ought to do, at least our proportionate share of our own and the world's carrying trade, so that our commerce shall have a fair chance in the world's markets and that we may hereafter be fully prepared for any emergency."

Regarding the Government's future shipping policy, Senator Jones said about 8,000,000 of the 12,000,000 tons under the American flag in foreign trade will be Government owned.

"We may differ about Government ownership," he said, "but that can be decided later. The Government owns these ships, whether they will or no. We must not allow private enterprise to take the cream of this shipping tonnage, and the Government must be able to absorb and take over all this shipping in a short while."

Proposes Big Corporation. Senator Jones also contended that the plant capital can take over the plant at Camden, N. J., and now operated through the New York Shipbuilding Co. It should be reorganized and used for construction of other facilities for which there are no other facilities.

In explanation of his bill to create a government corporation, to operate the fleet for not more than 30 years, but without competing with private established lines, Senator Jones said in conclusion:

"We now have the United States Shipping Board acting in a dual capacity. It is intended to be a great regulatory governmental agency, and in fact, doing the work of a great corporation. It cannot well serve both ends. What I propose is to divorce the Shipping Board entirely from building, selling or operating ships, and allow it to do the things it was created to do, and create a corporation separate and independent of our ships in such a way to give us an adequate marine on a permanent basis."

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH MARKET AND FINANCIAL NEWS

New York Stocks

Market Is Influenced by Better Buying of Steel Shares and Oils.

Rumors of an official move by labor leaders to settle the coal strike were reflected in a higher market for stocks at the opening of trading today. Gains on some shares ran 1 to 2 points, with best buying noted in the steel shares, oils and motors.

Net operating railway income of Missouri Pacific for the nine months ended Sept. 30 last, was $4,275,495, compared with $3,481,216 in the corresponding period of 1918, the first in the annual rate of $5,912, or $14,223,421.

On this hypothetical operating basis, Missouri Pacific for the year reported for 1919, at the annual rate of $6.21 per cent, at the annual rate of $6.21 per cent, at the annual rate of $6.21 per cent.

Actual earnings in 1918 under Federal control were equal to $6.21 per cent, and they are not likely to show a variation this year, but the need of freight rate relief for this year, if it is to cover its requirements, has returned to corporate management.

Rumors of an official move by labor leaders to settle the coal strike were reflected in a higher market for stocks at the opening of trading today. Gains on some shares ran 1 to 2 points, with best buying noted in the steel shares, oils and motors.

Net operating railway income of Missouri Pacific for the nine months ended Sept. 30 last, was $4,275,495, compared with $3,481,216 in the corresponding period of 1918, the first in the annual rate of $5,912, or $14,223,421.

On this hypothetical operating basis, Missouri Pacific for the year reported for 1919, at the annual rate of $6.21 per cent, at the annual rate of $6.21 per cent, at the annual rate of $6.21 per cent.

Actual earnings in 1918 under Federal control were equal to $6.21 per cent, and they are not likely to show a variation this year, but the need of freight rate relief for this year, if it is to cover its requirements, has returned to corporate management.

Proposed Big Corporation. Senator Jones also contended that the plant capital can take over the plant at Camden, N. J., and now operated through the New York Shipbuilding Co. It should be reorganized and used for construction of other facilities for which there are no other facilities.

In explanation of his bill to create a government corporation, to operate the fleet for not more than 30 years, but without competing with private established lines, Senator Jones said in conclusion:

"We now have the United States Shipping Board acting in a dual capacity. It is intended to be a great regulatory governmental agency, and in fact, doing the work of a great corporation. It cannot well serve both ends. What I propose is to divorce the Shipping Board entirely from building, selling or operating ships, and allow it to do the things it was created to do, and create a corporation separate and independent of our ships in such a way to give us an adequate marine on a permanent basis."

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

MAUD AND THE JUDGE.

Maud Muller, on a summer's day,
Raked the meadows, sweet with hay,
For which the farmer paid to Maud
Three-fifty-five a week, and board.

The Judge rode up, he said, said he,
"Wilt come, fair maid, and cook for me?"

"Why manure this rocky field
When you a basting spoon might wield?"

"Why fiddle with a rusty rake
When you might fry and boil and bake?"

"And make enough inside a year
To buy a diamond la va here?"

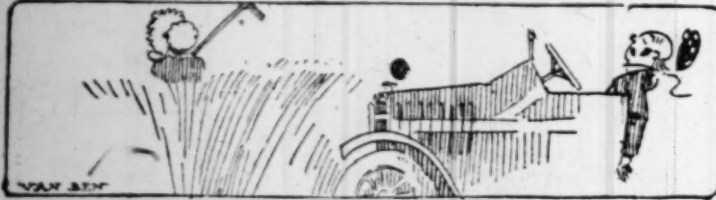

"Indeed," said Maud, "can I secure
The services of your chauffeur?"

"Can I my young men friends invite
To dinner every other night?"

"And when I give a swell swarve
Will Mrs. Judge receive with me?"

"If not, old sport, be on your way,
I'll stick round here and comb the hay."

The judge fell dead, but ere he fell
He muttered softly, "Ain't it h-ll?"

New York candidates have made a hit by serving tea before their oratory to the women voters. Now, if they will dispense with the oratory, they can also please the men voters.

He Played 'Em.
"Can any boy tell me what harness is?" asked the teacher.
Not a single boy knew.
"Well," she continued, "is there any boy here whose father works among horses?"
One small boy stood up and answered, "Yes, teacher, mine does."
"Well," said the teacher, "what does your father put on the horse every morning?"
"Please, teacher, every cent he has."—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Plenty of Questions.
"My wife is mourning the loss of a $10,000 diamond necklace."
"Why don't you advertise a thousand reward and no questions asked?"
"Well, I could make good on the thousand, but I doubt my wife's ability to fulfill the rest of that contract."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

PENNY ANTE—With An Oil Promoter

By Jean Knott

I TELL YA WE CAN'T MISS IT—WE'VE GOT PRODUCING WELLS ALL AROUND US AN' THE GUY RIGHT NEXT TO US BROUGHT IN A 3000 BARREL WELL LAST WEEK.

I GOT A TELEGRAM TODAY SAYING THAT THEY'RE DOWN 1627 FEET AN' THEY EXPECT TO BRING IN A GUSHER IN A DAY OR TWO. THE THING FOR YOU GUYS TO DO IS TO HOLD ON TO YOUR STOCK.

WHAT'S OUR STOCK WORTH NOW?

I WISH THAT I'D A-TAKEN A COUPLE HUNDRED SHARES INSTEAD OF FIFTY. IT OUGHTA BE PAYIN' DIVIDENDS PRETTY SOON.

COME ON HERE, LET'S GET THIS GAME STARTED. WHAT ARE WE HERE FOR? YOU CAN MAKE MORE MONEY RIGHT HERE THAN IN THOSE OIL WELLS.

SOME O' THEM OIL COMPANIES ARE PAYING 200 PER CENT. OH BOY! IF WE HIT IT!

DO WE HAVE TO WAIT UNTIL Y'GET A DIVIDEND BEFORE YOU SETTLE UP?

YES, ARNOLD, I'VE GOT ONE OF THE NICEST LITTLE HOMES IN CHEESE GARDENS—I'LL HAVE IT ALL PAID OFF IN SEVENTY-ONE YEARS.

THERE'S ONE BORN EVERY MINUTE—AND SOMETIMES A FEW IN BETWEEN.

WELL, WELL, IF IT ISN'T MY CHILDHOOD SWEET-HEART, EUNICE GOLDFISH—LET'S GO SOME PLACE AND HAVE AN ICE CREAM SODA.

EVER SINCE WE WERE KIDS TOGETHER I'VE BEEN LONGING FOR A LITTLE PLACE IN THE COUNTRY WHERE I COULD WAKE UP IN THE MORNING AND SEE THE SMILING FACES OF THE LITTLE CATERPILLERS.

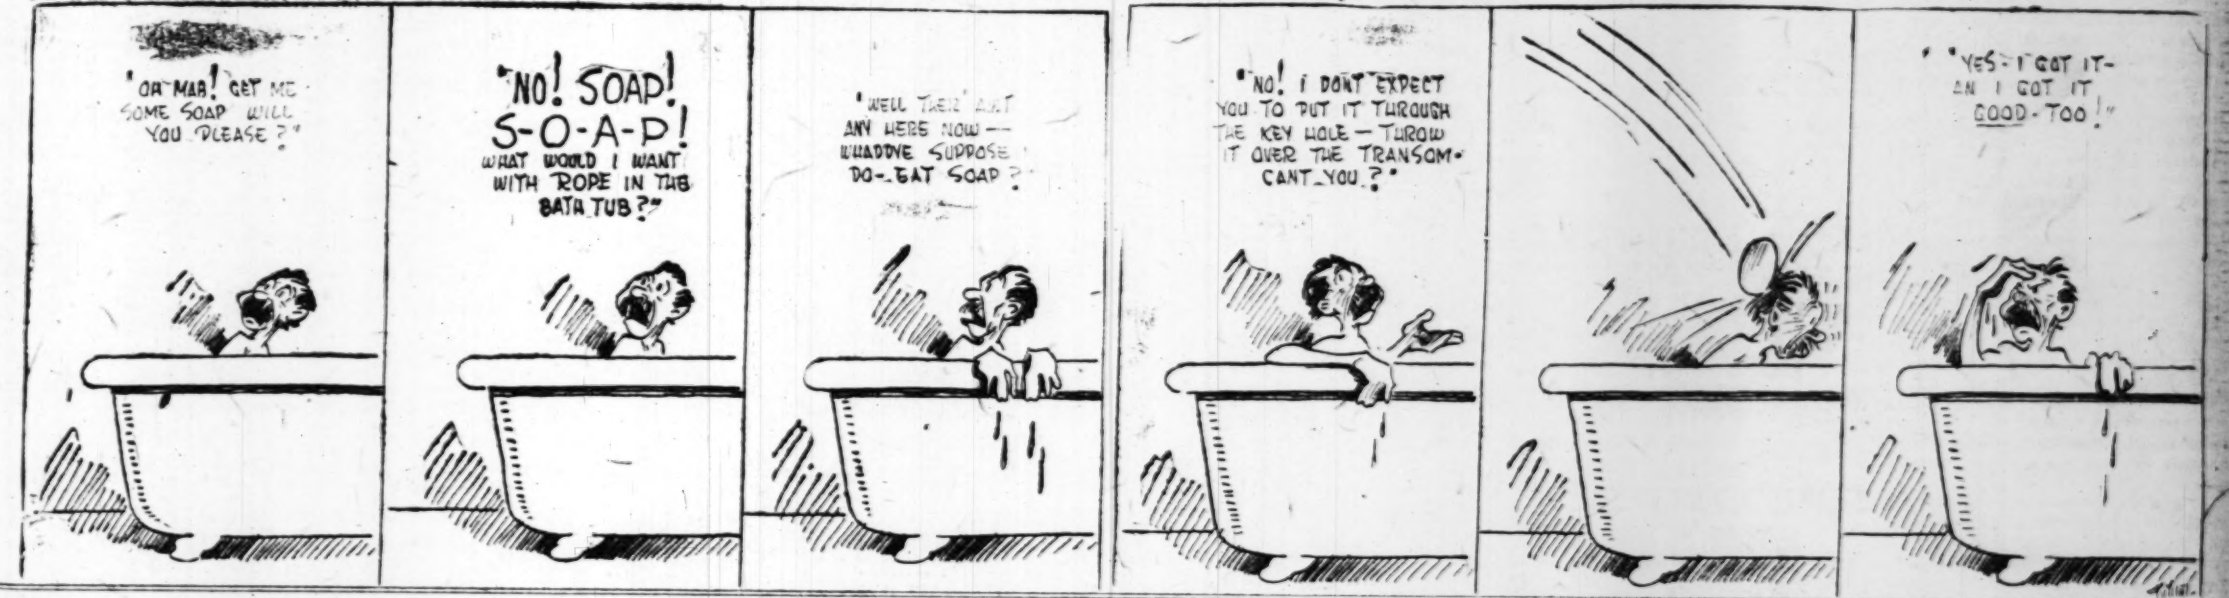

I CAN GIVE YOU A NICE LITTLE HOUSE ONLY FORTY-TWO MILES FROM THE RAILROAD—$1000 DOWN AND TEN DOLLARS A MONTH IN 54 YEARS YOU'LL OWN THE BATH-ROOM.

THEY ALL FLOP SOONER OR LATER!

FOR THE LOVE OF MIKE, MUTT, MY UNCLE WAS IN A RAILROAD WRECK.

THAT SO? I TRUST HE WASN'T SERIOUSLY HURT.

HE WAS BADLY SHAKEN UP, THAT'S ALL. HE WRITES THAT HE WAS IN THE LAST CAR AND A FREIGHT BUMPED INTO IT.

IT'S A STRANGE THING ABOUT RAILROAD ACCIDENTS.

I'VE NOTICED THAT IN ALL RAILROAD ACCIDENTS THE FIRST AND LAST CARS ARE ALWAYS THE ONES THAT ARE SMASHED UP.

YOU'RE RIGHT—

CRIMINAL NEGLIGENCE I CALL IT, THAT THEY DON'T LEAVE THOSE TWO CARS OFF THE TRAIN ENTIRELY.
